Buddhism In The Sung Studies In East Asian Buddhism No 13:

Doctrine and Practice in Medieval Korean Buddhism ,2016-11-30 ich n 1055 1101 is recognized as a Buddhist master of great stature in the East Asian tradition Born a prince in the medieval Korean state of Koryŏ 960 1279 he traveled to Song China 960 1279 to study Buddhism and later compiled and published the first collection of East Asian exegetical texts According to the received scholarly tradition after returning to Korea ich n left the Hwa m Huayan school to found a new Ch n t ae Tiantai school when he realized that the synthesis between doctrinal learning and meditative practice in the latter would help bring together the discordant sects of Koryŏ Buddhism In the late twentieth century however scholars began to question the assertion that ich n forsook one school for another arguing that his writings assembled in The Collected Works of State Preceptor Taegak Taegak kuksa munjip do not portray a committed sectarian but a monk dedicated to developing a sophisticated and rigorous system of monastic education that encompassed all Buddhist intellectual traditions In this first comprehensive study of ich n s life and work in English Richard McBride presents translations of select lectures letters essays and poetry from The Collected Works to provide a more balanced view of ich n s philosophy of life and understanding of key Buddhist teachings The translations center on the monk s activities in the pan East Asian Buddhist world and his compilation of scholarly texts writings related to his interactions with royalty and correspondence with his Chinese mentor Jinshui Jingyuan 1011 1088 By incorporating ich n s work associated with doctrinal Buddhism and his poetry McBride clearly shows that even in his most personal work ich n did not abandon Hwa m teachings for those of the Ch n t ae but rather he encouraged monks to blend the best learning from all doctrinal traditions with meditative practice

The Making of a Savior Bodhisattva Shi Zhiru,2007-08-14 In modern Chinese Buddhism Dizang is especially popular as the sovereign of the underworld Often represented as a monk wearing a royal crown Dizang helps the deceased faithful navigate the complex underworld bureaucracy avert the punitive terrors of hell and arrive at the happy realm of rebirth The author is concerned with the formative period of this important Buddhist deity before his underworldly aspect eclipses his connections to other religious expressions and at a time when the art mythology practices and texts of his cult were still replete with possibilities She begins by problematizing the reigning model of Dizang one that proposes an evolution of gradual sinicization and increasing vulgarization of a relatively unknown Indian bodhisattva Ksitigarbha into a Chinese deity of the underworld Such a model the author argues obscures the many faceted personality and iconography of Dizang Rejecting it she deploys a broad array of materials art epigraphy ritual texts scripture and narrative literature to recomplexify Dizang and restore as much as possible from the fragmented historical sources what this figure meant to Chinese Buddhists from the sixth to tenth centuries Rather than privilege any one genre of evidence the author treats both material artifacts and literary works canonical and noncanonical sources Adopting an archaeological approach she excavates motifs from and finds resonances across disparate genres to paint a vibrant detailed picture of the medieval Dizang cult Through her analysis the cult far from being an isolated phenomenon is revealed as integrally woven into the entire fabric of Chinese Buddhism functioning as a kaleidoscopic lens encompassing a multivalent religio cultural assimilation that resists the usual bifurcation of doctrine and practice or elite and popular religion The Making of a Savior Bodhisattva presents a fascinating wealth of material on the personality iconography and lore associated with the medieval Dizang It elucidates the complex cultural religious and social forces shaping the florescence of this savior cult in Tang China while simultaneously addressing several broader theoretical issues that have preoccupied the field Zhiru not only questions the use of sinicization as a lens through which to view Chinese Buddhist history she also brings both canonical and noncanonical literature into dialogue with a body of archaeological remains that has been ignored in the study of East Asian Buddhism

Coming to Terms with Chinese Buddhism Robert H. Sharf, 2005-11-30 The issue of sinification the manner and extent to which Buddhism and Chinese culture were transformed through their mutual encounter and dialogue has dominated the study of Chinese Buddhism for much of the past century Robert Sharf opens this important and far reaching book by raising a host of historical and hermeneutical problems with the encounter paradigm and the master narrative on which it is based Coming to Terms with Chinese Buddhism is among other things an extended reflection on the theoretical foundations and conceptual categories that undergird the study of medieval Chinese Buddhism Sharf draws his argument in part from a meticulous historical philological and philosophical analysis of the Treasure Store Treatise Pao tsang lun an eighth century Buddhio Taoist work apocryphally attributed to the fifth century master Seng chao 374 414 In the process of coming to terms with this recondite text Sharf ventures into all manner of subjects bearing on our understanding of medieval Chinese Buddhism from the evolution of T ang gentry Taoism to the pivotal role of image veneration and the problematic status of Chinese Tantra The volume includes a complete annotated translation of the Treasure Store Treatise accompanied by the detailed exegesis of dozens of key terms and concepts

Cultural Intersections in Later Chinese Buddhism Marsha Smith Weidner, 2001-01-01 This collection of essays on later Chinese Buddhism takes us beyond the bedrock subjects of traditional Buddhist historiography scriptures and commentaries sectarian developments lives of notable monks to examine a wide range of extracanonical materials that illuminate cultural manifestations of Buddhism from the Song dynasty 960 1279 through the modern period Straying from well trodden paths the authors often transgress the boundaries of their own disciplines historians address architecture art historians look to politics a specialist in literature treats poetry that offers gendered insights into Buddhist lives The broad based cultural orientation of this volume is predicated on the recognition that art and religion are not closed systems requiring only minimal cross indexing with other social or aesthetic phenomena but constituent elements in interlocking networks of practice and belief

Thinking with Cases Charlotte Furth, Judith T. Zeitlin, Ping-chen Hsiung, 2007-02-28 Case studies fascinate because they link individual instances to general patterns and knowledge to action without denying the priority of individual situations over the generalizations derived from them In this volume an international group of senior scholars comes together to consider the use of cases to produce empirical knowledge in premodern China They trace the process by which the project of thinking with cases acquired a systematic and public character in the ninth century CE and after Premodern Chinese experts on medicine and law circulated printed case collections to demonstrate efficacy or claim validity for their judgments They were joined by authors of religious and philosophical texts The rhetorical strategies and forms of argument used by all of these writers were allied with historical narratives exemplary biographies and case examples composed as aids to imperial statecraft The innovative and productive explorations gathered here present a coherent set of interlocking arguments that will be of interest to comparativists as well as specialists on premodern East Asia For China scholars they examine the interaction of different fields of learning in the late imperial period the relationship of evidential reasoning and literary forms and the philosophical frameworks that linked knowledge to experience and action For comparativists the essays bring China into a global conversation about the methodologies of the human sciences Contributors Chu Honglam Charlotte Furth Hsiung Ping chen Jiang Yonglin Yasuhiko Karasawa Robert Sharf Pierre tienne Will WuYanhong Judith T Zeitlin The Cambridge History of China: Volume 5, Sung China, 960-1279 AD, Part 2 John W. Chaffee, Denis Twitchett, 2015-03-05 This is the second of two volumes on the Sung Dynasty which together provide a comprehensive history of China from the fall of the T ang Dynasty in 907 to the Mongol conquest of the Southern Sung in 1279 With contributions from leading historians in the field Volume 5 Part Two paints a complex portrait of a dynasty beset by problems and contradictions but one which despite its military and geopolitical weakness was nevertheless economically powerful culturally brilliant socially fluid and the most populous of any empire in global history to that point In this much anticipated addition to the series the authors survey key themes across ten chapters including government economy society religion and thought to provide an authoritative and topical treatment of a profound and significant period in Chinese history
