FORESTRY IN INDIA DURING BRITISH ERA DIPAK SARMAH, 2020-02-05 Forestry in India during British Era traces the history of the evolution of scientific forestry in India during the British era 1800 1947 A special emphasis of the narration is on the State of Karnataka which was under British domination partly directly through the Bombay and Madras Presidencies and somewhat indirectly through the Princely States of Mysore Hyderabad Sandur and a few others Besides describing the developments of forestry together with the circumstances that led to these developments the book assesses their long term impact on the forests as we see them today It provides a graphic account of the birth of the forest departments and the hurdles they had to face in their bid to be effective in guarding the forests the last vestiges of nature from the verge of imminent extinction Forestry in India during British Era has critically examined some of the important causes that led to forest destruction such as the large scale expansion of agriculture the heavy withdrawal of biomass the extensive shifting cultivation in the Ghat forests etc It also objectively analyses what the forestry scenario would have been like today had the process of forest reservation not been zealously initiated about 150 years ago and if these forests hadn't been steadfastly and arduously guarded by the forest departments throughout these years
