Tilikum Crossing: Bridge of the People Ira Nadel, Donald MacDonald, 2018-05-15 Portland Oregon's innovative and distinctive landmark Tilikum Crossing Bridge of the People is the first major bridge in the U S carrying trains busses streetcars bicycles and pedestrians but no private automobiles When regional transportation agency TriMet began planning for the first bridge to be constructed across the Willamette River since 1973 the goal was to build a something symbolic which would represent the progressive nature of the Twenty First Century In this book MacDonald captures the story of an engaging public process that involved neighborhood associations small businesses environmentalists biologists bicycling enthusiasts designers engineers and Portland City Council The result an entirely unique bridge that increased the transportation capacity of the city while enabling Portlanders to experience their urban home in an entirely new way car free Written in a friendly voice readers will learn how Portland came to be known as The City of Bridges and the home to this new icon in the city's landscape MacDonald uses 98 of his own drawings to illustrate the history of Portland river crossings Readers will take away a deeper understanding of how our public structures come to reflect a community A Tale of Two Bridges Stephen Mikesell, 2017-04-03 A Tale of Two Bridges is a history of two versions of the San Francisco Oakland Bay Bridge the original bridge built in 1936 and a replacement for the eastern half of the bridge finished in 2013 The 1936 bridge revolutionized transportation in the Bay Area and profoundly influenced settlement patterns in the region It was also a remarkable feat of engineering In the 1950s the American Society of Civil Engineers adopted a list of the Seven Engineering Wonders of the United States The 1936 structure was the only bridge on the list besting even the more famous Golden Gate Bridge One of its greatest achievements was that it was built on time in less than three years and came in under budget Mikesell explores in fascinating detail how the bridge was designed by a collection of the best known engineers in the country as well as the heroic story of its construction by largely unskilled laborers from California joined by highly skilled steel workers By contrast the East Span replacement which was planned between 1989 and 1998 and built between 1998

and 2013 fell victim to cost overruns in the billions of dollars was a decade behind schedule and suffered from structural problems that has made it a perpetual maintenance nightmare This is narrative history in its purest form Mikesell excels at explaining highly technical engineering issues in language that can be understood and appreciated by general readers Here is the story of two very important bridges which provides a fair but uncompromising analysis of why one bridge succeeded and the other did not Hella Town Mitchell Schwarzer,2022-08-16 Hella Town reveals the profound impact of transportation improvements systemic racism and regional competition on Oakland's built environment Often overshadowed by San Francisco its larger and more glamorous twin Oakland has a fascinating history of its own From serving as a major transportation hub to forging a dynamic manufacturing sector by the mid twentieth century Oakland had become the urban center of the East Bay Hella Town focuses on how political deals economic schemes and technological innovations fueled this emergence but also seeded the city's postwar struggles Toward the turn of the millennium as immigration from Latin America and East Asia increased Oakland became one of the most diverse cities in the country The city still grapples with the consequences of uneven class and race based development amid disruption How do past decisions about where to locate highways or public transit urban renewal districts or civic venues parks or shopping centers influence how Oaklanders live today A history of Oakland's buildings and landscapes its booms and its busts provides insight into its current conditions an influx of new residents and businesses skyrocketing housing costs and a lingering chasm between the haves and have nots

Remaking the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge Karen Trapenberg Frick,2015-08-14 Winner of TransportiCA's September Book Club Award 2018 On 17 October 1989 one the largest earthquakes to occur in California since the San Francisco earthquake of April 1906 struck Northern California Damage was extensive none more so than the partial collapse of the San Francisco Oakland Bay Bridge's eastern span a vital link used by hundreds of thousands of Californians every day The bridge was closed for a month for repairs and then reopened to traffic But what ensued over the next 25 years is the extraordinary story that Karen Trapenberg Frick tells here It is a cautionary tale to which any governing authority embarking on a megaproject should pay heed She describes the process by which the bridge was eventually replaced as an exercise in shadowboxing which pitted the combined talents and shortcomings partnerships and jealousies ingenuity and obtuseness generosity and parsimony of the State's and the region's leading elected officials engineers architects and other members of the governing elites against a collectively imagined future catastrophe of unknown proportions In so doing she highlights three key questions If safety was the reason to replace the bridge why did it take almost 25 years to do so How did an original estimate of 250 million in 1995 soar to 6.5 billion by 2014 And why was such a complex design chosen Her final chapter part epilogue part reflection provides recommendations to improve megaproject delivery and design Civil Structural Health Monitoring Waleed Abdullah,Muhammad Tariq Chaudhary,Hasan Kamal,Jafarali Parol,Abdullah Almutairi,2024-06-30 This book gathers the latest advances and innovations in the field of structural health monitoring as presented at the 9th Civil Structural Health Monitoring Workshop CSHM 9 held in Kuwait on February 12 14 2024 It discusses emerging challenges in civil SHM and more broadly in the fields of smart materials and intelligent systems for civil engineering applications The contributions cover a diverse range of topics including applications of SHM to civil structures and infrastructures innovative sensing solutions for SHM data driven damage detection techniques nonlinear systems and analysis techniques influence of environmental and operational conditions aging structures and infrastructures in hazardous environments and SHM in earthquake prone regions Selected by means of a rigorous peer review process they will spur novel research directions and foster future multidisciplinary collaborations
