German born American architect and designer whose work in Europe and North America has had an enduring influence on modern and contemporary architecture worldwide During his sixty year career he fundamentally rethought architectural types that shaped modern life including the office building apartment building and private home True to his alleged dictum less is more Mies van der Rohe's style is characterized by utmost simplicity elegance of materials and radical formal and functional innovation as exemplified by such iconic projects as the Farnsworth House in Plano Illinois and the Seagram Building in New York In this book renowned architectural historian Dietrich Neumann presents a new critical look at Mies and complicates the established narrative about him Diverging from the reverential posture of many existing accounts Neumann insists on the importance of the contemporary context social political and architectural for understanding the architect's life and work The book draws on many overlooked archival and primary sources to demonstrate how and why Mies's designs were shaped and received foregrounding contemporary critics responses and the work of Mies's collaborators and peers It presents several previously unknown buildings projects and furniture designs and challenges long established interpretations of key works Comprehensively illustrated and covering the entirety of Mies's career this ambitious book is the most substantial account to date of the life and work of one of the most important architects of the twentieth century

Mies Van Der Rohe Pavilion Award for European Architecture Mies van der Rohe Pavilion Award for European Architecture, 1999 Architecture Martin van der Linden, 2021-03-12 The question of what architecture is answered in this book with one sentence Architecture is space created for human activities The basic need to find food and water places these activities within a larger spatial field Humans have learned and found ways to adjust to the various contextual difficulties that they faced as they roamed the earth Thus rather than adapting humans have always tried to change the context to their activities Humanity has looked at the context not merely as a limitation but rather as a spatial situation filled with opportunities that allows through intellectual interaction to change these limitations Thus humanity has created within the world their own contextual bubble that firmly stands against the larger context it is set in The key notion of the book is that architecture is space carved out of and against the context and that this process is deterministic The Mathematics of the Modernist Villa Michael J. Ostwald, Michael J. Dawes, 2018-04-12 This book presents the first detailed mathematical analysis of the social cognitive and experiential properties of Modernist domestic architecture The Modern Movement in architecture which came to prominence during the first half of the twentieth century may have been famous for its functional forms and machine made aesthetic but it also sought to challenge the way people inhabit understand and experience space Ludwig Mies van der Rohe's buildings were not only minimalist and transparent they were designed to subvert traditional social hierarchies Frank Lloyd Wright's organic Modernism not only attempted to negotiate a more responsive relationship between nature and architecture but also shape the way people experience space Richard Neutra's Californian Modernism is traditionally celebrated for its sleek geometric forms but his intention was to use design to support a heightened understanding of context Glenn Murcutt's pristine pavilions seemingly the epitome of regional Modernism actually raise important questions about the socio spatial structure of architecture Rather than focussing on form or style in Modernism this book examines the spatial social and experiential properties of thirty seven designs by Wright Mies Neutra and Murcutt The computational and mathematical methods used for this purpose are drawn from space syntax isovist geometry and graph theory The specific issues that are examined include the sensory and emotional appeal of space and form shifting social and spatial structures in architectural planning wayfinding and visual understanding and the relationship between form and program

From Autos to Architecture David Gartman, 2012-04-17 One of the most interesting questions in architectural history is why modern architecture emerged from the war ravaged regions of central Europe and not the United States whose techniques of mass production and mechanical products so inspired the first generation of modern architects like Le Corbusier Mies van der Rohe and Walter Gropius In From Autos to Architecture sociologist David Gartman offers a critical social history that shows how Fordist mass production and industrial architecture in America influenced European designers to an extent previously not understood Drawing on Marxist economics the Frankfurt School and French sociologist Pierre Bourdieu From Autos to Architecture deftly illustrates the different class structures and struggles of America and Europe Examining architecture in the context of social conflicts From Autos to Architecture offers a critical alternative to standard architectural histories focused on aesthetics alone

The Victory of the New Building Style Walter Curt Behrendt, 2000 This book Behrendt's principle theoretical work in German and the precursor to Modern Building presents a revisionist concept of style that places equal emphasis on form and function Now available in English for the first time this incisive treatise boldly advocates international modernism to the general public
