Asias Maritime Bead Trade 300 B C To The Present:

Asia's Maritime Bead Trade Peter Francis, 2002-01-01 This fascinating study is the first detailed description of the ancient and enduring trade in beads that spans more than two millennia and once stretched from the Middle East to East Asia and affected areas as far apart as West Africa and the American Pacific coast. Beads are universal and among the earliest art forms. Made of glass, semiprecious stone, or precious organic materials such as amber and coral, they were ubiquitous in the ancient world, serving as decorations, magical charms, mnemonic and counting devices, symbols of wealth and status. Much of the ancient bead trade was incorporated in Asian maritime commerce, and many of the beads involved have Asian origins. Peter Francis Jr, a pioneer in bead studies, incorporates firsthand knowledge of beads and beadmaking in the field with years of solid scholarly research, effectively eliminating much of the hearsay and speculation that so often characterizes works on beads. In addition to the production, use, and provenance of beads, he examines the importance of the bead trade for the economies of the countries involved and provides insights into the lives of its many participants: artisans, mariners, and merchants. He covers the widely dispersed Indo-Pacific beads, sometimes called Trade Wind beads or mutisalah, Chinese glass beads, Middle Eastern glass beads, Indian stone beads, heirloom beads in Southeast Asia and Micronesia, and other minor beads and bead industries involved in the trade.

Water Civilization Yoshinori Yasuda, 2012-10-23 Water Civilization From Yangtze to Khmer Civilizations comprises three major topics: 1. Discovery of the origin of rice agriculture and the Yangtze River civilization in southern China was mainly based on investigation of the Chengtoushan archaeological site, the earliest urban settlement in East Asia. The origin of rice cultivation can be traced back to 10000 BC, with urban settlement starting at about 6000 BP. 2. The Yangtze River civilization collapsed around 4200 BP. Palaeoenvironmental studies, including analyses of annually laminated sediments in East and Southeast Asia, indicate a close relationship between climate change and the rise and fall of the rice cultivating and fishing civilization. 3. Migrations from southern China to Southeast Asia occurred after about 4200 BP. Archaeological investigation of the Phum Snay site in Cambodia, including analyses of DNA and human skeletal remains, reveals a close relationship to southern China, indicating the migration of people from southern China to Southeast Asia. This publication is an important contribution to understanding the environmental history of China and Cambodia in relation to the rise and fall of the rice cultivating and fishing civilization, which we call water civilization.

Stringing the Past Jun G. Cayron, 2006 The source of thousands of Indo-Pacific type glass beads recovered from the Pandanan shipwreck in Palawan, Philippines, has heretofore not been determined. This book is a significant contribution to our knowledge of glass beads: how they were made, used, and traded in early Southeast Asia.

Ecologies of Translation in East and South East Asia, 1600-1900 Li Guo,Patricia Sieber,Peter Kornicki,2025-10-01 This ground breaking volume on early modern inter Asian translation examines how translation from plain Chinese was situated at the nexus between on the one hand the traditional standard of biliteracy characteristic of literary practices in the Sinographic sphere and on the other practices of translational multilingualism competence in multiple spoken languages to produce a fully localized target text Translations from plain Chinese are shown to carve out new ecologies of translations that not only enrich our understanding of early modern translation practices across the Sinographic sphere but also demonstrate that the transregional uses of a non alphabetic graphic technology call for different models of translation theory

Knowledge and the Indian Ocean Sara Keller,2018-09-11 This volume examines Western India s contributions to the spread of ideas beliefs and other intangible ties across the Indian Ocean world The region particularly Gujarat and Bombay is well established in the Indian imaginary and in scholarship as a mercantile hub These essays move beyond this identity to examine the region as a dynamic place of learning and a host of knowledge tracing the flow of knowledge aesthetic sensibilities values memories and genetic programs Contributors traverse the fields of history anthropology agriculture botany medicine sociology and more to offer path breaking perspectives on Western India s deep socio cultural impact across the centuries Western India emerges as a pivotal region in the maritime world as a transmitter of knowledge Invisible Cultures Francesco Carrer,Viola Gheller,2015-10-05 Cultural and social groups whose outlines are difficult to identify are often considered invisible Occasionally material remains compensate for the absence of historiographical records or literary sources concerning these groups sometimes communities or individuals mentioned in literary sources do not appear to have left material signs of their presence On the other hand there are groups or individuals whose existence has to be assumed in every historical period even though they are invisible in both historiography and archaeology Before trying to understand the lifestyle and historical agency of these invisible cultures it is necessary to highlight the reasons why the memory of certain marginalized individuals or socio cultural units disappeared or was obliterated in material culture and in literary sources The postgraduate conference Invisible Cultures Historical and Archaeological Perspectives brought together young scholars from various backgrounds and research interests to discuss these issues This volume presents the results of this debate through a series of selected papers from various interdisciplinary perspectives which analyse a variety of case studies leading to the identification of new theoretical and methodological perspectives aimed at returning voice and presence to the invisibles of history

The Elemental Analysis of Glass Beads Laure Dussubieux, Heather Walder, 2022-10-03 Glass beads both beautiful and portable have been produced and traded globally for thousands of years Modern archaeologists study these artifacts through sophisticated methods that analyze the glass composition a process which can be utilized to trace bead usage through time and across regions This book publishes open access compositional data obtained from laser ablation inductively coupled plasma mass spectrometry from a single analytical laboratory providing a uniquely comparative data set The geographic range includes studies of beads produced in Europe and traded widely across North America and beads from South and Southeast Asia traded around the Indian Ocean and beyond The contributors provide new insight on the timing of interregional interactions technologies of bead production and patterns of trade and exchange using glass beads as a window to the past This volume will be a key reference for glass researchers archaeologists and any scholars interested in material culture and exchange it provides a wide range of case studies in the investigation and interpretation of glass bead composition production and exchange since ancient times
