Archive Fever A Freudian Impression Religion And Postmodernism:

Archive Fever Jacques Derrida, 1996 As a depository of civic record and social history whose very name derives from the Greek word for town hall the archive would seem to be a public entity yet it is stocked with the personal even intimate artifacts of private lives It is this inherent tension between public and private which inaugurates for Derrida an inquiry into the human impulse to preserve through technology as well as tradition both a historical and a psychic past What emerges is a marvelous expansive work engaging at once Judaic mythos Freudian psychoanalysis and Marxist materialism in a profound reflection on the real the unreal and the virtual

Kabbalah and Postmodernism Sanford L. Drob, 2009 Kabbalah and Postmodernism A Dialogue challenges certain long held philosophical and theological beliefs including the assumptions that the insights of mystical experience are unavailable to human reason and inexpressible in linguistic terms that the God of traditional theology either does or does not exist that systematic theology must provide a univocal account of God man and the world that truth is absolute and not continually subject to radical revision and that the truth of propositions in philosophy and theology excludes the truth of their opposites and contradictions Readers of Kabbalah and Postmodernism will be exposed to a comprehensive mode of theological thought that incorporates the very doubts that would otherwise lead one to challenge the possibility of theology and religion and which both preserves the riches of the Jewish tradition and extends beyond Judaism to a non dogmatic universal philosophy and ethic

Fan Fiction and Early Christian Writings Tom de Bruin, 2024-05-16 What can contemporary media fandoms like Anne Rice Star Wars Batman or Sherlock Holmes tell us about ancient Christianity Tom de Bruin demonstrates how fandom and fan fiction are both analogous and incongruous with Christian derivative works The often disparaging terms applied to Christian apocrypha and pseudepigrapha such as fakes forgeries or corruptions are not sufficient to capture the production consumption and value of these writings De Bruin reimagines a range of early Christian works as fan practices Exploring these ancient texts in new ways he takes the reader on a journey from the fix it fic endings of the Gospel of Mark to the subversive fan fictions of the Testaments of the Twelve Patriarchs and from the densely populated storyworld of early Christian art to the gatekeeping of Christian orthodoxy Using theory developed in fan studies De Bruin revisits fundamental questions about ancient derivative texts Why where they written How do they interact with more established texts In what ways does the consumption of derivative works influence the reception of existing traditions And how does the community react to these works This book sheds exciting and new light on ancient Christian literary production consumption and transmission The Gaze of the X-Ray Shahram Khosravi,2024-01-05 Since its invention in the late nineteenth century the penetrating gaze of the X ray has changed our vision of the inside of the human body After we started to see inside ourselves the relationship between ourselves and our bodies changed forever As a progression in medical science X ray technology was fashioned to maintain and save life However as the contributors to this volume show it has been a device of ruination as well They visualise the traces and the pattern of violence practised by the states racial capitalism colonial racism and sexism By juxtaposing different cases across time and space this collection demonstrates a set of relations between civilization and ruination Religion and US Empire Tisa Wenger,Sylveste A Johnson,2022-08-23 Shows how American forms of religion and empire developed in tandem shaping and reshaping each other over the course of American history The United States has been an empire since the time of its founding and this empire is inextricably intertwined with American religion Religion and US Empire examines the relationship between these dynamic forces throughout the country s history and into the present The volume will serve as the most comprehensive and definitive text on the relationship between US empire and American religion Whereas other works describe religion as a force that aided or motivated American imperialism this comprehensive new history reveals how imperialism shaped American religion and how religion historically structured enabled challenged and resisted US imperialism Chapters move chronologically from the eighteenth century to the twenty first ranging geographically from the Caribbean Michigan and Liberia to Oklahoma Hawai i and the Philippines Rather than situating these histories safely in the past the final chapters ask readers to consider present day entanglements between capitalism imperialism and American religion Religion and US Empire is an urgent work of history offering the context behind a relationship that is for better or worse very much alive today Far-Right Revisionism and the End of History Louie Dean Valencia-García,2020-03-18 In Far Right Revisionism and the End of History Alt Histories historians sociologists neuroscientists lawyers cultural critics and literary and media scholars come together to offer an interconnected and comparative collection for understanding how contemporary far right neo fascist Alt Right Identitarian and New Right movements have proposed revisions and counter narratives to accepted understandings of history fact and narrative The innovative essays found here bring forward urgent questions to diverse public academic and politically minded audiences interested in how historical understandings of race gender class nationalism religion law technology and the sciences have been distorted by these far right movements If scholars of the last twenty years like Francis Fukuyama believed that neoliberalism marked an end of history this volume shows how the far right is effectively threatening democracy and its institutions through the dissemination of alt facts and histories Archive as Detour Sau Wai Vennes Cheng,2024-07-30 The book brings a new approach to see the art history of Hong Kong as a historical mediator and offers alternative perspective to discern the current hype of archive research and archival art practices which informs the commitment in the constant production of socio political meanings through arts The book addresses the current social political crises of Hong Kong by connecting art memory history and political participation together through the site of archive and contextualises in both local and global perspectives it also focuses on the artist archive namely Ha Bik Chuen Archive and archival art practices of contemporary Hong Kong particularly in the social and political unrests however it ripples resonance and reflection not only in the local context but also to the region The book is intended to the readers who are interested in both representational and interpretational nature of art and searching for alternatives means to perceive histories

The God Who May Be Richard Kearney, 2001-10-03 Kearney is one of the most exciting thinkers in the English speaking world of continental philosophy and he joins hands with its fundamental project asking the question what or who comes after the God of metaphysics John D Caputo Engaging some of the most urgent issues in the philosophy of religion today in this lively book Richard Kearney proposes that instead of thinking of God as actual God might best be thought of as the possibility of the impossible By pulling away from biblical perceptions of God and breaking with dominant theological traditions Kearney draws on the work of Ricoeur Levinas Derrida Heidegger and others to provide a surprising and original answer to who or what God might be For Kearney the intersecting dimensions of impossibility propel religious experience and faith in new directions notably toward views of God that are unforeseeable unprogrammable and uncertain Important themes such as the phenomenology of the persona the meaning of the unity of God God and desire notions of existence and difference and faith in philosophy are taken up in this penetrating and original work Richard Kearney is Professor of Philosophy at Boston College and University College Dublin He is author of many books on modern philosophy and culture including Dialogues with Contemporary Continental Thinkers The Wake of Imagination and The Poetics of Modernity
