American Institute of Consulting Engineers, 2015-07-06 Excerpt from American Institute of Consulting Engineers Proceedings of the Annual Meeting Held January 19 1942 President Singstad Distinguished Guests and Fellow Members of the American Institute of Consulting Engineers This is our twenty-ninth annual meeting and I want to confess to you right from the start that I am going to be a little bit handicapped here this evening in several ways. In the first place my distinguished predecessors and they are sitting here around the room have been able to make grand successes of these annual meetings. We always enjoyed them. I know. There have been several reasons for that. They have known how to do it, but then again I know that one of the reasons they have been very successful is that as you have to have in every organization someone who is working every day and seeing that things click and work all right in our organization we have had our beloved Philip Henry who is detained at home by an attack of laryngitis. Now my second handicap is that when I greeted our distinguished speaker of the evening I said Doctor won't you come in and have a cocktail. Oh he said no thank you. I can't drink when I am going to speak because I lose my sense of proportion. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
