Implementing AI Tools for Language Teaching and Learning Pham, Vu Phi Ho, Lian, Andrew, Lian, Ania, Barros, Sandro R., 2025-04-30. The implementation of artificial intelligence (AI) tools has revolutionized language education. For teachers and students, it provides more options for personalized learning that can be utilized inside or outside of the classroom with real-time feedback. While AI has been pivotal in making language education accessible for students, including those in special education, it has its drawbacks in terms of algorithm bias, decreased human interaction, and security concerns. This calls for responsible use of AI in language education and further professional development for teachers to enhance their experience of language learning. Implementing AI Tools for Language Teaching and Learning explores the advancement of digital technology in language education and the implications it has for the future of learning. It covers various AI-driven applications for language acquisition and translation, as well as the impact they may have on students' cognitive abilities and performance. Covering topics such as essay writing skills, long short-term memory (LSTM) models, and handwritten text recognition, this book is an excellent resource for language educators, policymakers, professionals, researchers, academicians, and more.

Diagnosing Foreign Language Proficiency J. Charles Alderson, 2006-11-01. This book addresses the need for tests that can diagnose the strengths and weaknesses in learners developing foreign language proficiency. It presents the rationale for and research surrounding the development of DIALANG, a suite of internet-delivered diagnostic foreign language tests funded by the European Commission. The word diagnosis is common in discussions in language education and applied linguistics, but very few truly diagnostic tests exist. However, the diagnosis of foreign language proficiency is central to helping learners make progress. This volume explores the nature of diagnostic testing, emphasizing the need for a better understanding of the nature of appropriate diagnosis. The book starts with a debate about how diagnostic testing might most appropriately be developed. Charles Alderson argues that the field has neglected to construct diagnostic tests partly because other forms of testing have dominated the field. Alderson examines how proficiency has been diagnosed in the key areas of language: reading, listening, writing, grammar, and vocabulary. The value of self-assessment is discussed and exemplified as a key component in developing learners and teachers' awareness of the complexity of language learning. The book ends with a consideration of and recommendations for future developments in the diagnosis of foreign language proficiency
