Archaeology Theory And The Middle Understanding The Early Medieval Past:

Archaeology, Theory and the Middle Ages John Moreland, 2010 In this important volume of collected essays John Moreland demonstrates the ways in which a theoretically informed archaeology significantly enhances our understanding of the early Middle Ages and indeed of the past more generally Beginning from the premise that theory must be worked through in data since abstract theorising conjures up only a historical pictures of the past he applies a consistent and contemporary body of theory broadly characterised as post processual in a series of case studies The essays are enhanced by extensive notes and commentary updating theoretical perspectives on and data pertaining to some of the key issues in contemporary archaeology the role of theory identities the appropriation destruction of the past gift exchange object biographies the influence of our present on the construction of the past the impact of texts on past societies etc The result will be of interest not just to scholars and students of the early Middle Ages but to archaeologists and historians more generally

Uncovering the Germanic Past Bonnie Effros, 2012-06-14 This volume suggests how the slow genesis of Merovingian archaeology in France challenged the prevailing views of the population s exclusively Gallic ancestry A history of the first century of the discipline Effros interdisciplinary study looks at the important contributions of medieval archaeological finds to modern French identity

The Oxford Companion to Archaeology Neil Asher Silberman, 2012-11 The second edition of The Oxford Companion to Archaeology is a thoroughly up to date resource with new entries exploring the many advances in the field since the first edition published in 1996 In 700 entries the second edition provides thorough coverage to historical archaeology the development of archaeology as a field of study and the way the discipline works to explain the past In addition to these theoretical entries other entries describe the major excavations discoveries and innovations from the discovery of the cave paintings at Lascaux to the deciphering of Egyptian hieroglyphics and the use of luminescence dating Recent developments in methods and analytical techniques which have revolutionized the ways excavations are performed are also covered as well as new areas within archeology such as cultural tourism and major new sites which have expanded our understanding of prehistory and human developments through time In addition to significant expansion first edition entries have been thoroughly revised and updated to reflect the progress that has been made in the last decade and a half

Encounters, Excavations and Argosies John Moreland, John Mitchell, Bea Leal, 2017-10-09 Richard Hodges one of Europe s preeminent archaeologists has throughout his career transformed the way we understand the early Middle Ages this volume pays tribute to him with a series of reflections on some of the themes and issues which have been central to his work over the last forty years

Bishops, Community and Authority in Late Roman Society Rebecca Devlin, 2025-10-01 When the bishop Hydatius found himself held hostage in Gallaecia a Roman province in the northwestern Iberian Peninsula by a band of Sueves in the year 460 he deployed his experience as an ambassador for his congregation and used his captivity as a tool for negotiating peace As this example shows bishops held considerable economic political and social power in the early Middle Ages The expansion of ecclesiastical influence was not however a simple consequence of the legalization of Christianity or a power vacuum that followed the withdrawal of imperial authority The transformation of the episcopate resulted instead from dynamic processes to which all status groups contributed and that are best understood through contextual and diachronic analysis This monograph focuses on the clerical community in Gallaecia and employs a case study and interdisciplinary approach incorporating written and material evidence to put bishops like Hydatius in their larger social and economic contexts to elucidate why the people living and working in their sees would imbue them with increasing authority and explain how their roles within their local communities expanded This book Analyses the accumulation of political power social capital and local influence by bishops approaching them as part of a larger social system understood as a whole that experienced transformative change across all of its layers Deploys all evidence written material etc without privileging one form over the other a priori to produce a deep reconstruction of the social and physical contexts micro historical landscapes in which bishops operated to explain their rise to prominence Turns the problem of Iberian early medieval written sources on its head i e the NW and clerical authors are overrepresented by engaging in a series of diachronic case studies to develop a rich understanding of episcopal influence in the NW as a point of departure for understanding broader developments in the late and post Roman periods

Art Historiography and Iconologies Between West and East Wojciech Bałus, Magdalena Kunińska, 2024-03-15 This volume explores a basic question in the historiography of art the extent to which iconology was a homogenous research method in its own immutable right By contributing to the rejection of the universalizing narrative these case studies argue that there were many strands of iconology Methods that differed from the canonised approach of Panofsky were proposed by Godefridus Johannes Hoogewerff and Hans Sedlmayr Researchers affiliated with the Warburg Institute in London also chose to distance themselves from Panofsky's work Poland in turn was the breeding ground for yet another distinct variety of iconology In Communist Czechoslovakia there were attempts to develop a Marxist iconology This book written by recognized experts in the field examines these and other major strands of iconology telling the tale of iconology's reception in the countries formerly behind the Iron Curtain Attitudes there ranged from enthusiastic acceptance in Poland to critical reception in the Soviet Union to reinterpretation in Czechoslovakia and the German Democratic Republic and finally to outright rejection in Romania The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history visual studies and historiography Chapters 8 and 15 of this book are freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at www.taylorfrancis.com under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 international license

The Changing Landscapes of Rome's Northern Hinterland Helen Patterson, Robert Witcher, Helga Di Giuseppe, 2020-09-03 This study presents a new regional history of the middle Tiber valley as a lens through which to view the emergence and transformation of the city of Rome from 1000 BC to AD 1000 Setting the ancient city within the context of its immediate territory the authors reveal the diverse and enduring links between the metropolis and its hinterland Medieval Europe From Another Angle Florin Curta, 2025-05-29 While the Middle Ages represent a topic of perennial interest most studies have addressed the western parts of the European continent often from the angle of the written sources This volume examines an area less known in the literary and archaeological evidence The studies included therein provide significant insights into the history and archaeology of East Central and Eastern Europe during Late Antiquity and the early Middle Ages This is the first volume of essays explicitly to reassess the significance of the region as well as the role of the archaeological evidence in studying ethnicity in the Middle Ages particularly in the case of the Slavs and the Avars Because of its geographic chronological thematic and methodological scope this book offers a new perspective from a different angle on the analysis of the archaeological and written sources Some chapters focus on settlement sites others discuss artifacts from burial assemblages As well as advancing new models for the analysis of the written sources in relation to ethnicity Medieval Europe from Another Angle offers new approaches to the understanding of how ethnicity may have been constructed in the Middle Ages in material culture terms It will appeal to scholars and students alike studying Late Antiquity and the early Middle Ages with an interest in material culture and its use in building ethnic boundaries The Long Sixth Century in Eastern Europe Florin Curta, 2021-05-12 In The Long Sixth Century in Eastern Europe Florin Curta offers a social and economic history of East Central South Eastern and Eastern Europe during the 6th and 7th centuries It challenges the current model of transition from Antiquity to the early Middle Ages on the basis of an interpretation of the written sources but especially of an enormous amount of archaeological evidence accumulated in the last 50 years or so It deals with societies in close contact with the Roman world as well with those located very far from it It addresses questions of property subsistence crafts trade and social change Things from the Town Dagfinn Skre, 2011-12-01 In this third volume deriving from the 2000 2003 excavations of the Viking town of Kaupang a range of artefacts is presented along with a discussion of the town s inhabitants their origins activities and trading connections The main categories of artefact are metal jewellery and ornaments gemstones vessel glass pottery finds of soapstone whetstones and textile production equipment The artefacts are described and dated and their areas of origin discussed The volume is lavishly illustrated An exceptional wealth and diversity of artefacts distinguishes sites such as Kaupang from all other types of site in the Viking World Above all they reflect the fact that a large population of some 400 600 people lived closely together in the town engaged in a comprehensive range of production and trade The stratigraphically distinct layers from the first half of the 9th century allow us to put precise dates to the finds and to the buildings and evidence of activities associated with them The finds and structural remains make it possible to identify the activities that took place within the six buildings excavated We can distinguish between some buildings that were only temporarily in use and others that were permanently occupied Several of the temporary buildings were used by a variety of craftsmen while those under permanent occupation were houses and only to a secondary degree workshops Throughout the life of the town from c AD 800 930 trade links with southern Scandinavia the

Baltic and the Irish Sea would appear to have been strong In the earliest phases of the town there was considerable trade with the Frisian regions probably with Dorestad but this link faded markedly in the second half of the 9th century probably because of the abandonment of Dorestad Within what is now Norway Kaupang seems to have been supplied with goods from the interior of eastern Norway Goods from around the western coasts of Norway however are practically invisible Finds of personal equipment show that the inhabitants of the town were of diverse origins Many of them were from southern and western Scandinavia but there were also Frisians there One house can be identified as that of a Frisian household engaged in trade There were also Slavs in Kaupang although it is not clear whether they were long term residents
