Architecture And The Built Environment Research Portfolio 2010 2015:

Bk 10-15 Frank Van Der Hoeven, 2016-11-11 Geometry and Atmosphere C. Alan Short, Peter Barrett, Alistair Fair, Monty Sutrisna, 2016-12-05 Drawing on detailed design construction and financial histories of six prominent Performing Arts buildings with budgets ranging from 3 4 million to over 100 million Geometry and Atmosphere presents unique and valuable insights into the complex process of building for the arts Each theatre project from tailor made spaces for avant garde companies to iconic and innovative receiving houses yields surprising and counter intuitive findings For each of the six projects the authors have interviewed all those involved Combining these interviews with exhaustive archival research the authors then provide cross case analysis which is distilled into guidance for all stakeholders as they transform their initial vision into built reality In particular the book challenges the technical focus of existing design guides for the Performing Arts by suggesting that current practice in briefing and design does not serve the Arts community especially well It shows that there is a need for an approach in which the focus is firmly rooted in the delivery of the driving artistic vision As well as being of interest to architects urban designers and those involved in theatre studies this book will be useful to other sectors where public money is spent on major building projects

Architecture & Sustainable Development (vol.1) Magali Bodart, Arnaud Evrard, 2011-07 This book of Proceedings presents the latest thinking and research in the rapidly evolving world of architecture and sustainable development through 255 selected papers by authors coming from over 60 countries

Multimodality in the Built Environment Louise J. Ravelli, Robert J. McMurtrie, 2015-11-19 This book provides an extended exploration of the multimodal analysis of spatial three dimensional texts of the built environment culminating in a holistic approach termed Spatial Discourse Analysis SpDA Based on existing frameworks of multimodal analysis this book applies adapts and extends these frameworks to spatial texts The authors argue that choices in spatial design create meanings about what we perceive and how we can or should behave within spatial texts influence how we feel in and about those spaces and enable these texts to function as coherent wholes. Importantly a spatial text once built is also a resource which is then used and an essential aspect of understanding these texts is to consider what users themselves contribute to the meaning potential of these texts. The book takes the metafunctional approach familiar from Systemic Functional Linguistics (SFL) and foregrounds each metafunction in turn: textual, interpersonal, experiential and logical in relation to the detailed analysis of a particular spatial text.

Research Anthology on Environmental and Societal Well-Being Considerations in Buildings and Architecture Management Association, Information Resources, 2021-05-28. When it comes to architecture there has been a focus on sustainable buildings and human well-being in the built environment. Buildings should not only be environmentally friendly and sustainable but dually focused on human health, wellness and experience. This includes considerations into the quality of buildings ranging from ventilation to thermal comfort along with environmental considerations such as energy usage and material selection. Specific architectural choices and design for buildings can either contribute to or negatively impact both society and the environment, leading research in the field of architecture to be focused on environmental and societal well-being in accordance with the built environment. The Research Anthology on Environmental and Societal Well-Being Considerations in Buildings and Architecture focuses on how the built environment is being constructed to purposefully enhance societal well-being while also maintaining green standards for environmental sustainability. On one side this book focuses on the specific building choices that can be made for the purpose of human well-being and the occupants who will utilize the building. On the other side this book also focuses on environmental sustainability from the standpoint of green buildings and environmental concerns. Together these topics allow this book to have a holistic view of modern architectural choices and design. This book is essential for architects, IT professionals, engineers, contractors, environmentalists, interior designers, civil planners, regional government officials, construction companies, policymakers, practitioners, researchers, academicians and students interested in architecture and how it can promote environmental and societal well-being.

The Translational Design of Universities, 2019-08-12. Whilst schools are transforming their physical and virtual environments at a relatively glacial pace in most countries across the globe, universities are under extreme pressure to adapt to the rapid emergence of the virtual campus. Competition for students by online course providers is resulting in a rapidly emerging understanding of what the nature of the traditional campus will look like in the 21st century. The blended virtual and physical technology-enabled hybrid learning environments now integrate the face-to-face and online virtual experience synchronously and asynchronously. Local branch campuses are emerging in city and town centres and international branch campuses are growing at a rapid rate. There is increasing pressure at various levels, i.e. the city, the urban and the campus, to create formal and informal learning spaces as well as re-purposing the library and social or third spaces. Many new hybrid campus developments are not based on any form of rigorous scholarly evidence. The risk is that many of these projects may fail In taking an evidence based approach this book seeks to align with the model of translational research from medical practice using a modified translational design approach The majority of the chapter material comes from the scholarly work of doctoral graduates and their dissertations This book is the second in a series on the evidence based translational design of educational institutions with the first volume focussing on schools This volume on Higher Education covers the city to the classroom and those elements in between It also explores what the future might look like as judgements are made about what works in campus planning and design in our rapidly changing virtual and physical worlds Contributors are Neda Abbasi Ronald Beckers Flavia Curvelo Magdaniel Mollie Dollinger Robert A Ellis Kenn Fisher Barry J Fraser Kobi Jacov Haina Rifca Hashimshony Leah Irving Marian Mahat Saadia Majeed Jacqueline Pizzuti Ashby Leanne Rose Munro Mahmoud Reza Saghaifi Panayiotis Skordi Alejandra Torres Landa Lopez and Ji Yu Designing Healthy and

Liveable Cities Marichela Sepe,2022-10-11 In the last ten years concepts such as urban health and liveability have become ever more present in urban planning studies Many companies rank the most liveable city in the world or in a nation and many indicators are used to try to measure factors which can report the health of a place by investigating it in different ways While it is possible to understand why a place is liveable due to the liveability and health concepts that are being more and more explored in urban studies and the strong influence coming from other disciplines it is difficult to design a place that is certain to be healthy and liveable Accordingly aim of this book is after the definition of the field of investigation concerning sustainable regeneration trough topics such as resilience adaptation health and mixed connections to illustrate the present day approaches to the analysis and design of healthy places and in particular the original Healthy Pl ce Design method flexible and repeatable in different contexts The method aims to identify sustainable urban liveability and healthiness and the factors which make places liveable and healthy from users points of view and identifying design interventions that can enhance or create both urban liveability and health Emblematic case studies carried out in Europe Canada and China Bordeaux Copenhagen Hamburg Madrid Newcastle Gateshead Nice Dublin Vancouver and Wuhan constitute the empirical part of the book detailed with surveys questionnaires images and maps The theoretical framework built on contemporary issues and international case studies make this book both attractive and scientific adding a new stone on the sustainable city construction and opening it to a particularly wide readership including scholars students administrators and professionals

Postphenomenology and Architecture Inger Berling Hyams,Lars Botin,2021-02-22 Architecture and urban design are typically considered as a result of artistic creativity performed by gifted individuals Postphenomenology and Architecture Human Technology Relations in the Built Environment analyzes buildings and cities instead as technologies Informed by a postphenomenological perspective this book argues that buildings and the furniture of cities like bike lanes benches and bus stops are inscribed in a conceptual framework of multistability which is to say that they fulfill different purposes over time Yet there are qualities in the built environment that are long lasting and immutable and that transcend temporal functionality and ephemeral efficiency The contributors show how different perceptions practices and interpretations are tangible and visible as we engage with these technologies In addition several of the chapters critically assess the influence of Martin Heidegger in modern philosophy of architecture This book reads Heidegger from the perspective of architecture and urban design as technology shedding light on what it means to build and dwell Adaptive Architecture Wolfgang F. E. Preiser,Andrea E. Hardy,Jacob J. Wilhelm,2017-09-01 The constant in architecture s evolution is change Adaptive Architecture explores structures or environments that accommodate multiple functions at the same time sequentially or at periodically recurring events It demonstrates how changing technological economic ecological and social conditions have altered the playing field for architecture from the design of single purpose structures to the design of interacting systems of synergistically interdependent distributed buildings Including contributors from the US UK Japan Australia Germany and South Africa the essays are woven into a five part framework which provides a broad and unique treatment of this important and timely issue
