The Architecture of Steam James Douet, 2023-01-15 Winner of the Association for Industrial Archaeology's Peter Neaverson Award for Outstanding Scholarship 2024 Steam pumping stations are exceptional buildings a rousing eloquent architecture designed by engineers and an industrial edifice intended to express civic pride They were invented perfected and superseded in barely a century during the determined struggle to overcome the historic threat to urban life posed by industrialization Of the buildings of the industrial period only train stations can compete with waterworks for stylistic bravura carried over into the cool tiled interiors and the sparkle and warmth of the cherished steam engine This first comprehensive account of a remarkable fusion of machinery and structure weaves together architectural fashions shifting social conditions and engineering inventiveness to show why such care was taken by the communities that commissioned them and by the men who built them and what makes us take such pleasure in them today British waterworks heritage is a global reference for the historical significance of the sites themselves but also for the conservation of the many preserved waterworks often extending to the reanimation of historic steam engines No prior knowledge of architecture sanitation or steam technology is required to enjoy this spirited and richly illustrated account of a singular British building

Destruction of Cultural Heritage in 19th-century France Michael Greenhalgh, 2015-08-24 Destruction of Cultural Heritage in 19th Century France examines the fate of the building stock and prominent ruins of France especially Roman survivals in the 19th century supported by contemporary documentation and archives largely provided through the publications of scholarly societies The book describes the enormous extent of the destruction of monuments providing an antidote to the triumphalism and concomitant amnesia which in modern scholarship routinely present the 19th century as one of concern for the past It charts the modernising impulse over several centuries detailing the archaeological discoveries made and usually destroyed as walls were pulled down and town interiors re planned plus the brutal impact on landscape and antiquities as railways were laid out Heritage was largely scorned and identity found in modernity not the past
