Handbook of Energy Law in the Low-Carbon Transition Giuseppe Bellantuono, Lee Godden, Hanri Mostert, Hannah Wiseman, Hao Zhang, 2023-05-22 The low carbon transition is ongoing everywhere This Handbook written by a group of senior and junior scholars from six continents and nineteen countries explores the legal pathways of decarbonisation in the energy sector What emerges is a composite picture There are many roadblocks but also a lot of legal innovation The volume distils the legal knowledge which should help move forward the transition Questions addressed include the differences between the decarbonization strategies of developed and developing countries the pace of the transition the management of multi level governance systems the pros and cons of different policy instruments the planning of low carbon infrastructures the roles and meanings of energy justice The Handbook can be drawn upon by legal scholars to compare decarbonisation pathways in several jurisdictions Non legal scholars can find information to be included in transition theories and decarbonization scenarios Policymakers can discover contextual factors that should be taken into account when deciding how to support the transition Agricultural Land Use and Natural Gas Extraction Conflicts Madeline Taylor, Tina Hunter, 2018-11-02 Onshore unconventional gas operations in most jurisdictions operate on the legal principle that all activities during exploration and extraction are temporary in nature The concept that the onshore unconventional gas industry has a temporary effect on the land on which it operates creates a regulatory paradox On one hand unconventional gas activities create energy security national wealth and a burgeoning export industry On the other agricultural land and agriculturalists may be significantly disadvantaged by unconventional gas activities potentially producing permanent damage to non renewable fertile soils and spoiling the underground water tables Thus threatening future food security and food sovereignty This book explores the socio regulatory dimensions of coexistence between agricultural and onshore unconventional gas land uses in the jurisdictions with the highest concentration of proven unconventional gas reserves Australia Canada the USA the UK France Poland and China In exploring the differing regulatory standpoints of unconventional gas land uses on productive farming land in the chosen jurisdictions this book provides an original three part categorisation of regulatory approaches addressing the coexistence of agricultural land and unconventional gas namely adaptive management precautionary and finally statism It offers a timely and topical approach to socio legal natural resource governance theory based on the participation transparency and empowerment for agricultural landholders examining how differing frameworks such as the collective bargaining framework can create equitable and sustainable contractual arrangements with unconventional gas companies Research Handbook on Oil and Gas Law Tina Soliman Hunter, Madeline Taylor, 2023-01-17 What does the future hold for oil and gas what can we learn from the past and what role does law have to play in this Using a unique temporal lens this Research Handbook examines core themes in oil and gas regulation from historical contemporary and forward looking perspectives Governing Shale Gas John Whitton, Matthew

Cotton, Ioan M. Charnley-Parry, Kathy Brasier, 2018-07-27 Shale energy development is an issue of global importance. The number of reserves globally and their potential economic return have increased dramatically in the past decade. Questions abound however about the appropriate governance systems to manage the risks of unconventional oil and gas development and the ability for citizens to engage and participate in decisions regarding these systems. Stakeholder participation is essential for the social and political legitimacy of energy extraction and production, what the industry calls a social license to operate. This book attempts to bring together critical themes inherent in the energy governance literature and illustrate them through cases in multiple countries including the US, the UK, Canada, South Africa, Germany and Poland. These themes include how multiple actors and institutions, industry, governments and regulatory bodies at all scales, communities, opposition movements and individual landowners have roles in developing, contesting, monitoring and enforcing practices and regulations within unconventional oil and gas development. Overall, the book proposes a systemic, participatory, community-led approach required to achieve a form of legitimacy that allows communities to derive social priorities by a process of community visioning. This book will be of great relevance to scholars and policy makers with an interest in shale gas development and energy policy and governance.

Energy Transitions in Central and Eastern Europe Tomas Maltby, Matúš Mišík, 2024-04-04 Examines Central and Eastern European energy transitions and climate and energy policy as the EU aims for decarbonisation by 2050.

Handbook of Shale Gas Law and Policy Tina Hunter, 2016 To date, petroleum law and policy in Europe has focused offshore. Over the last fifty years, it has been driven by the development and regulation of vast oil and gas resources in the North Sea. However, a new source of petroleum is now emerging in Europe: that of the unconventional resource of shale gas. Since 2011, the UK has been striving to undertake the development of shale gas through the granting of a consent to drill. Concentrating solely on shale gas, this book is structured around five themes: namely, an overview and introduction to shale gas activities; shale gas economics and energy security; access to shale gas resources; shale gas law and regulation; and the future of shale gas. It examines the fundamental principles and provides the reader with a practical, applicable analysis of shale gas exploration and extraction. Looking at the legal, scientific and economic issues relating to shale gas extraction from the perspective of developed United States and Canada, developing Australia and emerging jurisdictions, United Kingdom, this book provides unique perspectives that the reader can apply to their own jurisdiction. With contributions by Roberto F. Aguilera, David Campin, Simone Fraser, Andrew Garnett, Tina Hunter, Allan Ingelson, Andrey Konoplyanik, Steven Latta, Alastair R. Lucas, Cristelle Maurin, David M. Ong, John Paterson, Marian Radetzki, Slawomir Raszewski, Peter Styles, Emre Senmez, Vlado Vivoda, Michael Weir and Hannah J. Wiseman, Dr Tina Hunter is a Professor in Energy Law and the Director of the Centre for Energy Law, University of Aberdeen, United Kingdom.
