Asian Security Practice Material And Ideational Influences:

Asian Security Practice Muthiah Alagappa, 2022 Despite the end of the Cold War security continues to be a critical concern of Asian states Allocations of state revenues to the security sector continue to be substantial and have in fact increased in several countries As Asian nations construct a new security architecture for the Asia Pacific region Asian security has received increased attention by the scholarly community But most of that scholarship has focused on specific issues or selected countries This book aims to lay the groundwork for a comprehensive in depth understanding of Asian security by investigating conceptions of security in sixteen Asian countries The book undertakes an ethnographic country by country study of how Asian states conceive of their security For each country it identifies and explains the security concerns and behavior of central decision makers asking who or what is to be protected against what potential threats and how security policies have changed over time This inside out or bottom up approach facilitates both identification of similarities and differences in the security thinking and practice of Asian countries and exploration of their consequences The crucial insights into the dynamics of international security in the region provided by this approach can form the basis for further inquiry including debates about the future of the region The book is in three parts Part I critically reviews and appraises the debate over defining security and provides a historical overview of international politics in Asia Part II investigates security practices in sixteen Asian countries the countries selected and grouped on the basis of security independence Based on the findings of the country studies and drawing on other published works Part III compares the national practices with a view to identifying and explaining key characteristics of Asian security practice and conceptualization on the basis of the Asian experiences

Simon,2001-08-21 Political developments in the post Cold War era the intensification of globalization and the rapid spread of technology are forcing a reevaluation of the meaning of security Traditional security is no longer the singular concern of the world powers and new forms of security have become relevant to a growing number of countries The Many Faces of Asian Security provides a comprehensive assessment of these developments in the Asia Pacific region The book begins with an examination of traditional security concerns military capabilities balance of power territorial and resource disputes the effects of new technologies on military strategy and the problems involved in maintaining sovereignty in the face of globalization It then introduces the new security issues that have become important in Asia since the end of the Cold War economic and financial stability in the wake of the financial crisis the spillover effects of environmental degradation human rights and political stability and the impact of transnational crime Eleven leading specialists on Asia evaluate the types of and approaches to Asian security that have been emerging over the past decade Their wide ranging and incisive discussions will be of interest to policymakers scholars and students alike Nuclear Deterrence in Southern Asia Arpit Rajain,2005-05

This important and topical book examines the triangular relationship of China India and Pakistan through the prism of nuclear deterrence The author highlights the interplay and role of strategic culture nuclear weaponisation and deployment command and control arms control non state actors and foreign policy issues which affect relations between the three countries With two main purposes a conceptual investigation into the notion of deterrence and a study of the theory and practice of limited war this book addresses the strategic political and military dimensions of the role of nuclear weapons through examples of the only cases of nuclear weapon states having gone into armed conflict the Cuban missile crisis the Ussuri river clashes and the Kargil conflict discusses the various pressures exerted on decision makers in the context of the notions of deterrence the rational deterrence model and a limited war under a nuclear umbrella evaluates all three countries with regard to their strategic culture the role of nuclear weapons in their military strategy the nature of public opinion and political rhetoric responses to the various arms control treaties and foreign policy choices Based on a variety of sources including interviews with key individuals in various sector this is the first book length study of the triangular relationship between China India and Pakistan China Rising David C. Kang,2010-01-22 Over the past three decades China has rapidly emerged as a major regional power yet East Asia has been more peaceful than at any time since the Opium Wars of 1839 1841 Why has the region accommodated China s rise David C Kang believes certain preferences and beliefs are responsible for maintaining stability in East Asia His research shows that East Asian states have grown closer to China with little evidence that the region is rupturing These states see China s rise as advantageous and are willing to defer judgment as to China's wishes and future actions. They believe that a strong China stabilizes East Asia while a weak China tempts other states to seek control of the region. Kang's provocative work reveals the flaws in contemporary views on China and offers a new understanding of sound U.S. policy in East Asia.

The Arms Race in Asia Andrew T.H. Tan, 2013-12-13 This book is the first systematic examination of the emerging arms race in Asia. The global trade in arms is to a large degree underpinned by the strong demand for arms in Asia and the Middle East, the two largest arms export markets in the world. Of these two regions, Asia has become particularly significant, led by the emergence of China and India as major powers. It is therefore not surprising that the rapid military modernisation in Asia, accompanied by significant increases in the size and sophistication of armed forces, has generated attention as to its trends, key characteristics, causes, and implications. This phenomenon, which has become evident since the end of the Cold War, has also been widely described as an Asian arms race. This book evaluates the key conceptual ideas which can shed light on this phenomenon, as well as examining the complex mix of internal, external, and technological factors that have led to its emergence. The volume explores the way in which the arms race is leading ultimately to three distinctive blocs in the emerging geostrategic landscape: a loose bloc of US allies in the region, a counter-bloc of potential US adversaries, and a neutral bloc of states with industrial-age armed forces whose allegiances will vary according to circumstances and geostrategic developments. The Arms Race in Asia concludes that if the emerging arms race is left unchecked, it is likely that Asia will increasingly become a region of instability marked by conflicts and interstate wars. The book will be of great interest to students of Asian politics, strategic studies, defence studies, security studies, and IR in general.

The European Union's Security Relations with Asian Partners Thomas Christiansen, Emil Kirchner, See Seng Tan, 2021-05-11 This wide-ranging book analyses EU-Asia security relations in a systematic, substantive, and comparative manner. The contributions assess similarities and differences between the EU and its Asian partners with respect to levels of threat perception, policy response, and security cooperation in the context of historical, institutional, and external factors such as the influence of the United States. The book presents original empirical research organised in four parts: a number of contributions providing discussions of the global context in which EU-Asia security relations develop; a series of chapters covering the range of dimensions of EU-Asian security, including both traditional and non-military aspects of security; chapters addressing the specific issues touching on bilateral relations between the EU and its partners in the Asia-Pacific region; and a final part presenting the overall findings across the various contributions together with the future outlook for EU-Asia security relations.

The Limits of Alignment John D. Ciorciari, 2010-08-16 The Limits of Alignment is an engaging and accessible study that explores how small states and middle powers of Southeast Asia ensure their security in a world where they are overshadowed by greater powers. John D. Ciorciari challenges a central concept in international relations theory: that states respond to insecurity by either balancing against their principal foes, bandwagoning with them, or declaring themselves neutral. Instead, he shows that developing countries prefer limited alignments that steer between strict neutrality and formal alliances to obtain the fruits of security cooperation without the perils of undue dependency Ciorciari also shows how structural and normative shifts following the end of the Cold War and the advent of U S primacy have increased the prevalence of limited alignments in the developing world and that these can often place constraints on U S foreign policy Finally he discusses how limited alignments in the developing world may affect the future course of international security as China and other rising powers gather influence on the world stage Security Aspects of Philippines-China Relations Rommel C. Banlaoi,2007 The Long Shadow Muthiah Alagappa,2008 The Long Shadow investigates the purposes and roles of nuclear weapons in the new security environment the nature and content of the national nuclear strategies of relevant states and their implications for international security and stability in the Asian security region
