At Home An Anthropology Of Domestic Space Space Place And Society:

At Home Irene Cieraad, 2006-09-28 In a volume that brings together a wide range of disciplines art history sociology architecture cultural anthropology and environmental psychology Irene Cieraad presents a collection of articles that focuses on the practices and symbolism of domestic space in Western society These essays go beyond the discussion of conventional issues such as aesthetics and social standing At Home takes an in depth anthropological look at how different cultures use their homes as a visual model of the culture s social structure

"Women and the Material Culture of Needlework and Textiles, 1750-1950" Maureen Daly Goggin, 2017-07-05 Rejecting traditional notions of what constitutes art this book brings together essays on a variety of fiber arts to recoup women s artistic practices by redefining what counts as art Although scholars over the last twenty years have turned their attention to fiber arts redefining the conditions practices and products as art there is still much work to be done to deconstruct the stubborn patriarchal art craft binary With essays on a range of fiber art practices including embroidery knitting crocheting machine stitching rug making weaving and quilting this collection contributes to the ongoing scholarly redefinition of women s relationship to creative activity Focusing on women as producers of cultural products and creators of social value the contributors treat women as active subjects and problematize their material practices and artifacts in the complex world of textiles Each essay also examines the ways in which needlework both performs gender and in turn constructs gender Moreover in concentrating on and theorizing material practices of textiles these essays reorient the study of fiber arts towards a focus on process the making of the object including the conditions under which it was made by whom and for what purpose as a way to rethink the fiber arts as social praxis

Making Space John Rennie Short, 2004-03-01 The cosmos was bound in a sphere the world was gridded and plotted the seas navigated and the land surveyed Spatial practices were codified a spatial sensitivity was created and a cartographic literacy was established in the increasing use of maps and the creation of a cartographic language for new mappings of the world state and city Short establishes that such spatial revisioning is connected to the promotion of commercial and national interests Developments in navigation for example were often encouraged and promoted both by the state and by merchant companies Surveying was closely connected to the rising cost of land and to the increasing commodification of agriculture The continuous price rise of land in the sixteenth century was an important factor in the rise of spatial practices of mapping and surveying In addition he highlights the role of the occult practices in the new spatial sciences Astrology and alchemy were as important as astronomy and geometry The cosmographers of the sixteenth century encompassed a wide arc of intellectual endeavors

The Boundless Self Paul C. Adams, 2005-05-17 Using the body as an axis for geographical theory this book argues that communication empowers self to constantly transcend its physical limits It urges complete review of personal borders in space and time based on symbols signs and signals that redefine ties to the tangible world i.e. Dear John letters layout of furniture in rooms or chronic illness Adams shows how vehicular transit has altered traditional modalities like walking or biking while navigation of space and virtual space has led to boundary blurring He covers transforming moments in communication from the rise of writing to invention of the printing press telephone and electronic media To better understand human geography he also plumbs the relation of space and time to notions of romance identity and meaning Citing geographers throughout the ages and the effects of mercantile industrial and current global economies The Boundless Self is sure to provoke thought and theory among geographers communicators and scholars alike Alabaster Cities John Rennie Short,2006-12-05 With keen insight and exhaustive research John Rennie Short narrates the story of urban America from 1950 to the present revealing a compelling portrait of urban transformation Short chronicles the steady rise of urbanization the increasing suburbanization and the sweeping metropolitanization of the U S uncovering the forces behind these shifts and their consequences for American communities Drawing on numerous studies first hand anecdotes census figures and other statistical data Short s work addresses the globalization of U S cities the increased polarization of urban life in the U S the role of civic engagement and the huge role played by the public sector in shaping the character of cities With deft analysis the author weaves together the themes of urban renewal suburbanization and metropolitan fragmentation race and ethnicity and immigration presenting a fascinating and highly readable account of the U S in the second half of the twentieth century Inventing Black-on-Black Violence David Wilson,2005-06-06 This book explores the societal construction of black on black referring to the 1980s when violence among African American perpetrators and victims increased Massive job losses debased identities and rampant physical decay made American blacks seem ripe for explosive behavior Many people blamed black lifestyle values and culture David Wilson shows how America imbued a process of violence with race and accepted it as one of the country s most vexing ills during the Reagan era and afterward Based on statistics ethnographies anecdotal accounts and national reportage the findings are hard to dispute Wilson tells of prominent conservative and liberal writers reporters and politicians who collectively nurtured this issue then parlayed it into truth in the public mind Mixing memoirs critical geographical studies and race theory the book shows how vulnerable groups of society can become pawns in an acute process of racial demonization And how in America this allowed blacks to be marginalized Beside One's Self Catherine Robinson,2011-05-24 What is it to feel homeless How does it feel to be without the orienting geography of home Going beyond homelessness as a housing issue this book uniquely explores the embodied emotional experiences of homelessness In doing so Robinson reveals much about existing gaps in service responses in community perceptions and in the ways in which homelessness most often becomes visible as a problem for policy makers She argues that the emotional dimension of displacement must be central to contemporary practices of researching understanding writing and responding to homelessness She situates the issue of homelessness at the nexus of important broader intellectual and methodological developments that take bodily and spatial experience as their starting point Drawing on field research and interviews Robinson details the lives of homeless individuals in Sydney Australia The moving narratives of these individuals bear witness to the key experiences of corporeal fragmentation geographical detachment and social alienation At the book s core lies a call to legitimize scholarly work that focuses on emotions particularly trauma facilitating researchers and policy makers to explore new avenues for evaluating service delivery Beside One s Self bridges the divide between research that has policy implications and research that makes theoretical contributions The Politics of Landscapes in Singapore Lily Kong,Brenda S. A. Yeoh,2003-02-01 This thought provoking book explores strategies employed by Singapore a multiracial society to create a Singapore nation with an emphasis on the role of landscape As such the authors cast keen eye on religious buildings public housing heritage landscapes and street name changes as tangible methods of nation building in a postcolonial society The authors illustrate how nation and national identity are concepts that are negotiated and disputed by varied social economic and political groups some of which may actively resist powerful state centrist attitudes Throughout this work the role of the landscape prevails both as a way to naturalize state ideologies and as a means of providing possibilities for reinterpretation in everyday life Me and My House Magdalena J.

Zaborowska,2018-03-29 The last sixteen years of James Baldwin s life 1971 87 unfolded in a village in the South of France in a sprawling house nicknamed Chez Baldwin In Me and My House Magdalena J Zaborowska employs Baldwin s home space as a lens through which to expand his biography and explore the politics and poetics of blackness queerness and domesticity in his complex and underappreciated later works Zaborowska shows how the themes of dwelling and black queer male sexuality in The Welcome Table Just above My Head and If Beale Street Could Talk directly stem from Chez Baldwin s influence on the writer The house was partially torn down in 2014 Accessible heavily illustrated and drawing on interviews with Baldwin s friends and lovers unpublished letters and manuscripts Me and My House offers new insights into Baldwin s life writing and relationships making it essential reading for all students scholars and fans of Baldwin Frontiers of Femininity Karen M.

Morin,2008-12-18 British explorer and professional travel writer Isabella Bird is to the modern eye a study in contradictions One of the premier mountaineers and world explorers of her generation she was in 1892 the first woman elected to London s Royal Geographic Society And yet Bird s books on her travels are filled with depictions of herself and other women that reinforce the properly feminine domestic and behavioral codes of her day In this fascinating and highly original collection of essays Karen Morin explores the self expression of travel writers like Bird by giving geographic context to their work With a rare degree of clarity the author examines relationships among nineteenth century American expansionism discourses about gender and writings of women who traveled and lived in the American West in the late nineteenth century British travelers American journalists a Native American tribal leader and female naturalists Drawing from a rich diversity of primary sources from published travelogues and unpublished archival sources such as letters and diaries to newspaper reportage Morin considers ways in which women s writing was influenced by the material circumstances of travel in addition to the various social norms that circumscribed female roles Ranging in scale from the interior of train cars and the homes of these women to the colonial projects of conquering the American West the author illustrates how geography was fundamental to the formation of women s identity and greatly influenced the gendered and colonialist language found in their writing
