Cantonese as Written Language Don Snow, 2004-10-01 Cantonese is the only dialect of Chinese which has developed a widely known and used written form It has played a role in publishing in the Guangdong region since the late Ming dynasty when various types of verses using Cantonese were published as mu yu shu wooden fish books In the early twentieth century these dialect texts were joined by Cantonese opera scripts published as popular reading material However it was only after the end of the Second World War that written Cantonese came to be widely used in popular newspapers and magazines advertising and in the private communications Cantonese as Written Language examines this development in the broader context of diglossia and also of the patterns by which spoken vernaculars have developed written forms in other societies Based on primary source research including interviews with publishers and writers who played an important role in the growth of written Cantonese the author argues that this move of Cantonese into the realm of written language is closely associated with Hong Kong s distinct local culture and identity The growth of the written vernacular also reflects the territory s evolving cultural distinctiveness from mainland China first as a British colony and now as a Special Administrative Region of China

ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE (EFL) Instruction with Islamic Perspectives Dr. Drs. H. Kalayo Hasibuan, M.Ed., TESOL., Dr. H. Sutarmo, M.Ag., 2023-11-01 This book entitled English as a Foreign Language EFL Instruction with Islamic Perspectives is a course book which contains discussions of how English learning is designed for teaching and learning English in educational institutions from primary school level up to higher education level in accordance with the breath of Islamic teachings which are in harmony with the guidance of national educational goals that integrate between Adab attitude with knowledge and skills as the concept of integration of knowledge science and Islam the Andromeda Spiral concept The instructional design of this book equivalent with a two credit course consists of 6 chapters CHAPTER I Introduction to EFL Instruction with Islamic Perspectives CHAPTER II Language Communication and Islamic Literacy CHAPTER III The Relationship between Language

Culture and Religion in an EFL Instruction CHAPTER IV Applied Linguistics Integrating EFL Instruction with Islamic Views CHAPTER V Applied Linguistics Incorporating Islamic Teachings into EFL Instruction Using Card Games CHAPTER VI Applied Linguistics Exploring the Connection of Word Card Games in Acquiring EFL with Islamic Perspectives Language, Society and Power Annabelle Mooney, Betsy Evans, 2015-02-20 Language Society and Power is the essential introductory text to studying language in a variety of social contexts This book examines the ways language functions how it influences thought and how it varies according to age ethnicity class and gender It considers whether representations of people and their language matter explores how identity is constructed and performed and considers the creative potential of language in the media politics and everyday talk This fourth edition has been completely revised to include recent developments in theory and research and offers the following features A range of new and engaging international examples drawn from everyday life including material from social media and newspapers cartoons YouTube and television Two new chapters which cover Linguistic Landscapes including signs graffiti and the internet and Global Englishes exploring variation in and attitudes to English around the world Updated and expanded student research projects and further reading sections for each chapter Brand new companion website that includes video and audio clips links to articles and further reading for students and professors Language Society and Power is a must read for students of English language and linguistics media communication cultural studies sociology and psychology And He Knew Our Language Marcus Tomalin, 2011 This ambitious and ground breaking book examines the linguistic studies produced by missionaries based on the Pacific Northwest Coast of North America and particularly Haida Gwaii during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Making extensive use of unpublished archival materials the author demonstrates that the missionaries were responsible for introducing many innovative and insightful grammatical analyses Rather than merely adopting Graeco Roman models they drew extensively upon studies of non European languages and a careful exploration of their scripture translations reveal the origins of the Haida sociolect that emerged as a result of the missionary activity The complex interactions between the missionaries and anthropologists are also discussed and it is shown that the former sometimes anticipated linguistic analyses that are now incorrectly attributed to the latter Since this book draws upon recent work in theoretical linguistics religious history translation studies and anthropology it emphasises the unavoidably interdisciplinary nature of Missionary Linguistics research Language, Crime and Courts in Contemporary Africa and Beyond Russell H. Kaschula, Monwabisi K. Ralarala, Georgina Heydon, 2023-09-08 The research represented in this volume and in the series as a whole is intended to provide critical analyses and findings that can underpin the development of language policies practice guides and other resources that support a fair and accessible legal system However this will also require well developed teaching and research programmes so it is our intention that this volume will continue to support the growth of forensic linguistics in Southern African universities and nurture the next generation of scholars dedicated to forensic and legal linguistics This aim will be supported by the newly formed African Association of Forensic and Legal Linguists AAFL which will help to coordinate the study of forensic linguistics in Africa This book series Studies in Forensic and Legal Linguistics in Africa and Beyond Volumes I II III and IV continues to play an important role in bringing African forensic linguistic scholarship to a wider audience while simultaneously promoting the field amongst academic and legal institutions in Africa
