Belief and Religion in Barbarian Europe c. 350-700 Marilyn Dunn, 2013-11-28 This ground breaking study offers a new paradigm for understanding the beliefs and religions of the Goths Burgundians Sueves Franks and Lombards as they converted from paganism to Christianity between c 350 and c 700 CE Combining history and theology with approaches drawn from the cognitive science of religion Belief and Religion in Barbarian Europe uses both written and archaeological evidence to challenge many older ideas Beginning with a re examination of our knowledge about the deities and rituals of their original religions it goes on to question the assumption that the Germanic peoples were merely passive recipients of Christian doctrine arguing that so called Arianism was first developed as an entry level Christianity for the Goths Focusing on individual ethnic groupings in turn it presents a fresh view of the relationship between religion and politics as their rulers attempted to opt for Catholicism In place of familiar debates about post conversion pagan survivals contemporary texts and legislation are analysed to create an innovative cognitive perspective on the ways in which the Church endeavoured to bring the Christian God into people s thoughts and actions The work also includes a survey of a wide range of written and archaeological evidence contrasting traditional conceptions of death afterlife and funerary ritual with Christian doctrine and practice in these areas and exploring some of the techniques developed by the Church for assuaging popular anxieties about Christian burial and the Christian afterlife
