Computational Modelling of Concrete and Concrete Structures Günther Meschke, Bernhard Pichler, Jan G.

Rots, 2022-05-22 Computational Modelling of Concrete and Concrete Structures contains the contributions to the EURO C 2022 conference Vienna Austria 23-26 May 2022. The papers review and discuss research advancements and assess the applicability and robustness of methods and models for the analysis and design of concrete fibre reinforced and prestressed concrete structures as well as masonry structures. Recent developments include methods of machine learning, novel discretisation methods, probabilistic models and consideration of a growing number of micro structural aspects in multi scale and multi physics settings. In addition, trends towards the material scale with new fibres and 3D printable concretes and life cycle oriented models for ageing and durability of existing and new concrete infrastructure are clearly visible. Overall, computational robustness of numerical predictions and mathematical rigour have further increased, accompanied by careful model validation based on respective experimental programmes. The book will serve as an important reference for both academics and professionals, stimulating new research directions in the field of computational modelling of concrete and its application to the analysis of concrete structures. EURO C 2022 is the eighth edition of the EURO C conference series after Innsbruck 1994, Bad Gastein 1998, St. Johann im Pongau 2003, Mayrhofen 2006, Schladming 2010, St. Anton am Arlberg 2014 and Bad Hofgastein 2018. The overarching focus of the conferences is on computational methods and numerical models for the analysis of concrete and concrete structures. Shallow Crack Fracture Mechanics Toughness Tests and

Applications Gyoujin Cho, 1992-01-01. Within the last decade, there has been an increasing awareness that use of standards deeply notched fracture mechanics test specimens can result in substantial over or under assessments of the real fracture toughness associated with shallow surface cracks. Fracture Behavior of Biological Materials and Interfaces Dhaneshwar

Mishra, 2021-03-12. Fracture Behavior of Inhomogeneous Biological Materials and Interfaces. Biological materials like bone, nacre, human tooth layers are inhomogeneous materials made up of soft collagen and hard hydroxyapatite (HAP) mineral arranged in such a fashion so that these materials have higher strength and toughness, the measure of crack resisting behavior in materials at the same time, which is exclusive in nature for different classes of materials available for different application areas. The interfaces in these biological materials are designed in such a fashion so that the load transfer between the constituents takes place so smoothly, therefore, become a region of strength not susceptible to failure like in other man-made materials and composites. It is important to understand these aspects of biological materials so that they can be mimicked to the novel materials to satisfy the growing need of different industries. Numerical Modelling of Failure in Advanced Composite Materials Pedro P. Camanho, Stephen R. Hallett, 2015-08-07. Numerical Modelling of Failure in Advanced Composite Materials comprehensively examines the most recent analysis techniques for advanced composite materials. Advanced composite materials are becoming increasingly important for lightweight design in aerospace, wind energy and mechanical and civil engineering Essential for exploiting their potential is the ability to reliably predict their mechanical behaviour particularly the onset and propagation of failure Part One investigates numerical modeling approaches to interlaminar failure in advanced composite materials Part Two considers numerical modelling approaches to intralaminar failure Part Three presents new and emerging advanced numerical algorithms for modeling and simulation of failure Part Four closes by examining the various engineering and scientific applications of numerical modeling for analysis of failure in advanced composite materials such as prediction of impact damage failure in textile composites and fracture behavior in through thickness reinforced laminates Examines the most recent analysis models for advanced composite materials in a coherent and comprehensive manner Investigates numerical modelling approaches to interlaminar failure and intralaminar failure in advanced composite materials Reviews advanced numerical algorithms for modeling and simulation of failure Examines various engineering and scientific applications of numerical modelling for analysis of failure in advanced composite materials

Structural Integrity and Durability of Advanced Composites Peter Beaumont, C. Soutis, Alma Hodzic, 2015-05-19 Structural Integrity and Durability of Advanced Composites Innovative Modelling Methods and Intelligent Design presents scientific and technological research from leading composite materials scientists and engineers that showcase the fundamental issues and practical problems that affect the development and exploitation of large composite structures As predicting precisely where cracks may develop in materials under stress is an age old mystery in the design and building of large scale engineering structures the burden of testing to provide fracture safe design is imperative Readers will learn to transfer key ideas from research and development to both the design engineer and end user of composite materials This comprehensive text provides the information users need to understand deformation and fracture phenomena resulting from impact fatigue creep and stress corrosion cracking and how these phenomena can affect reliability life expectancy and the durability of structures Presents scientific and technological research from leading composite materials scientists and engineers that showcase fundamental issues and practical problems Provides the information users need to understand deformation and fracture phenomena resulting from impact fatigue creep and stress corrosion cracking Enables readers to transfer key ideas from research and development to both the design engineer and end user of composite materials
