Action In Perception Representation And Mind Series:

Action in Perception Alva Noë, 2004 An argument that perception is something we do not something that happens to us not a process in the brain but a skillful bodily activity Visual Phenomenology Michael Madary, 2023-12-05

Phenomenological and empirical methods of investigating visual experience converge to support the thesis that visual perception is an ongoing process of anticipation and fulfillment In this book Michael Madary examines visual experience drawing on both phenomenological and empirical methods of investigation He finds that these two approaches careful philosophical description of experience and the science of vision independently converge on the same result Visual perception is an ongoing process of anticipation and fulfillment Madary first makes the case for the descriptive premise arguing that the phenomenology of vision is best described as an ongoing process of anticipation and fulfillment He discusses visual experience as being perspectival temporal and indeterminate considers the possibility of surprise when appearances do not change as we expect and considers the content of visual anticipation Madary then makes the case for the empirical premise showing that there are strong empirical reasons to model vision using the general form of anticipation and fulfillment He presents a range of evidence from perceptual psychology and neuroscience and reinterprets evidence for the two visual systems hypothesis Finally he considers the relationship between visual perception and social cognition An appendix discusses Husserlian phenomenology as it relates to the argument of the book Madary argues that the fact that there is a convergence of historically distinct methodologies itself is an argument that supports his findings With Visual Phenomenology he creates an exchange between the humanities and the sciences that takes both methods of investigation seriously

Aesthetics and the Embodied Mind: Beyond Art Theory and the Cartesian Mind-Body Dichotomy

Alfonsina Scarinzi, 2014-11-24 The project of naturalizing human consciousness experience has made great technical strides e g in mapping areas of brain activity but has been hampered in many cases by its uncritical reliance on a dualistic Cartesian paradigm though as some of the authors in the collection point out assumptions drawn from Plato and from Kant also play a role The present volume proposes a version of naturalism in aesthetics drawn from American pragmatism above all from Dewey but also from James and Peirce one primed from the start to see human beings not only as embodied but as inseparable from the environment they interact with and provides a forum for authors from diverse disciplines to address specific scientific and philosophical issues within the anti dualistic framework considering aesthetic experience as a process of embodied meaning making Cross disciplinary contributions come from leading researchers including Mark Johnson Jim Garrison Daniel D Hutto John T Haworth Luca F Ticini Beatriz Calvo Merino The volume covers pragmatist aesthetics neuroaesthetics enactive cognitive science literary studies psychology of aesthetics art and design sociology Insight To Heal Mark Graves, 2017-09-28 What does healing mean for Christians and others in an age of science How can we combine scientific findings about our bodies philosophical understanding of our minds and theological investigations about our spirits with a coherent and unified model of the person How does God continue to create through nature and direct our wandering towards becoming created co creators capable of ministering to others The reality of human suffering demands that theology and science mutually inform each other in a shared understanding of nature humanity and paths to healing In Insight to Heal Mark Graves draws upon systems theory pragmatic philosophy and biological and cognitive sciences to deal with wounds that could limit personal growth and uses information theory emergence and Christian theology to define healing as distinct from a return to a prior state of being but rather to create real possibility in who the person may become Signs, Intentionality, and Imaginability Horst Ruthrof,2025-10-13 This book contains essays by Horst Ruthrof tracing the author s intellectual history from his encounter with literature to his critique of the philosophy of language If you have ever felt that our linguistic and philosophical approaches to language lack an explanation of what renders it so powerful you share the author s motivation for writing these essays With tools from Locke Kant Peirce and especially Husserl the author redefines natural language as a set of social instructions for schematically imagining and acting in a world and gradually identifies what grants natural language its power imaginability Mindmelding William Hirstein,2012-01-26 In this important and controversial new book William Hirstein argues that it is possible for one person to directly experience the conscious states of another by way of what he calls mindmelding Drawing on a range of research from neuroscience psychology and philosophy he presents a highly original new account of consciousness Neurofeminism Robyn Bluhm,Heidi Lene Maibom,Anne Jaap Jacobson,2012-01-27 Going beyond the hype of recent fMRI findings this interdisciplinary collection examines such questions as Do women and men have significantly different brains Do women empathize while men systematize Is there a feminine ethics What does brain research on intersex conditions tell us about sex and gender

Bargh,Peter M. Gollwitzer,2009 In the last decade there has been a tremendous surge of research on the mechanisms of human action This volume brings together this new knowledge in a single concise source covering most if not all of the basic questions regarding human action What are the mechanisms by which action plans are acquired learned mentally represented activated selected and expressed The chapters provide up to date summaries of the published research on this question with an emphasis on underlying mechanisms This bible of action research brings together the current thinking of eminent researchers in the domains of motor control behavioral and cognitive neuroscience psycholinguistics biology as well as cognitive developmental social and motivational psychology It represents a determined multidisciplinary effort spanning across various areas of science as well as national boundaries Computational Cultural Neuroscience Joan Y. Chiao,2024-08-02 This book provides novel insights into the study of empirical computational approaches in the field of cultural neuroscience. It discusses and analyses topics such as cultural intelligence, cultural machine learning, cultural brain dynamics, and cultural security. This comprehensive text engages with computational principles to guide the research on the influence of cultural environments on human genetics. It explores the theoretical and methodological approaches involved in computational neuroscience. The author elucidates how cultural processes intersect with the structural organization of the nervous system, contributing to the study of computational principles and neural information processing mechanisms at the cultural level. Research in this subject area can help provide better understanding of the role of computation in cultural neuroscience, stimulating further research into practice and policy.

Computational Cultural Neuroscience: An Introduction is the ideal resource for academics, researchers, and students of psychology, neuroscience, computer science, or philosophy who are interested in cultural neuroscience.
