Asian Beekeeping in the 21st Century Panuwan

Chantawannakul, Geoffrey Williams, Peter Neumann, 2018-06-01 From the perspective of local scientists this book provides insight into bees and bee management of Asia with a special focus on honey bees Asia is home to at least nine honey bee species including the introduced European honey bee Apis mellifera Although A. mellifera and the native Asian honey bee Apis cerana are the most commonly employed species for commercial beekeeping the remaining non managed native honey bee species have important ecological and economic roles on the continent Species distributions of most honey bee species overlap in Southeast Asia thus promoting the potential for interspecies transmission of pests and parasites as well as their spread to other parts of the world by human translocation Losses of managed A. mellifera colonies is of great concern around the world including in Asia Such global colony losses are believed to be caused in part by pests and parasites originating from Asia such as the mite Varroa destructor the microsporidian Nosema ceranae and several bee viruses Taking advantage of the experience of leading regional bee researchers this book provides insight into the current situation of bees and bee management in Asia Recent introductions of honey bee parasites of Asian origin to other parts of the world ensures that the contents of this book are broadly relevant to bee scientists researchers government officials and the general public around the world
