Issues in Web-Based Pedagogy Robert A. Cole, 2000-06-30. There has been an explosion of Web-based courses in higher education. Aiming at an interdisciplinary audience, the contributors draw upon diverse philosophical and empirical backgrounds to make claims about Web-based pedagogy. Among the points they raise is the concern that education is more easily commodified through Internet technologies, implying that traditional faculty roles in teaching and research are at risk. Moreover, current understandings of what it means to be a teacher or a student are undergoing redefinition as a result of these new distance learning technologies. The contributors note that Web-based pedagogy is associated with sound instruction when particular strategies are adopted. As a corollary, this form of teaching is least effective when attempts are made to directly translate traditional styles of teaching. Political, social, and economic interests are competing to shape the direction that online education will take The authors argue that opportunities exist for administrators and faculty to define the terms under which Web based learning will occur in their institutions Using the Internet for Office 2000 Tina Lawton,2002 Endorsed by City and Guilds for use with The Certificate for IT Users Level 1 part of the City Guilds e Quals suite Practice assignments at the end of each unit are based on City Guilds specifications All Hands ,1998
