Constance Duncombe,2019-01-22 This timely book explains how recognition and misrecognition have the power to fuel conflict and to initiate reconciliation Constance Duncombe presents a detailed conceptual and empirical investigation of one of the most significant flashpoints in global politics the fraught bilateral relations between the US and Iran Duncombe uses this relationship to explore the importance of representation in shaping the identity of a state as well as how it is recognised by others on the world stage In 2015 Iran and the US reached an agreement on the framework for a long term deal that allows Iran limited nuclear technological capacity in exchange for the lifting of debilitating economic sanctions In light of decades of animosity between Iran and the US which previously thwarted attempts on both sides to reach an amicable agreement this book asks how we can best explain the initial success of this deal given the Trump administration s 2018 US withdrawal from the agreement American Culture Anders Breidlid,Fredrik Chr. minority and immigrant groups It is however obvious that American Indians have a special status within the United States because they are the indigenous people of the continent and in contrast to other ethnic minority groups they experienced the European settlement in the New World right from the beginning This paper will deal with the history of American Indians from 1492 to the present This is supposed to be a rather contemporary view on American Indians in the U S society since there have been a large number of studies concerning the American Indian past The year 1492 marked an important date for the whole globe It was the beginning of World War II which changed the worldwide status quo Due to this war the United States became the world's most powerful nation in terms of military economy and policy This development has had of course an impact on the U S society with its entire people the white European population the Afro American population the Asian population etc During this process the United States became the modern society we all know now and for this reason the situation changed for minority groups too In this paper the focus will be on the status of American Indians in the U S society and their ethnic identity but it will also be questioned if and how American Indians show their ties to the United States as their mother country
