The thyroid gland is located in the neck. The pituitary gland is located at the base of the brain. The pineal gland is located in the brain. The endocrine system is responsible for the production and release of hormones. Hormones are chemical messengers that travel through the bloodstream to target organs. The endocrine system is responsible for the regulation of many body functions, including growth, metabolism, and reproduction.

2. The thyroid gland is composed of many spherical follicles called thyroid follicles. Each follicle appears as an irregular circle of cells. Filling the inside of the follicle is a fluid called colloid. The colloid contains thyroid hormones. The thyroid gland is responsible for the production and release of thyroid hormones.
