Voet, 2021 The Gold Standard in Biochemistry text books Biochemistry 4e is a modern classic that has been thoroughly revised Don and Judy Voet explain biochemical concepts while offering a unified presentation of life and its variation through evolution It incorporates both classical and current research to illustrate the historical source of much of our biochemical knowledge Protein Purification Philip Bonner, Philip L.R. Bonner, 2007-06-11 Protein purification strategy and equipment Groundwork Nonaffinity absorption techniques for purifying proteins Nonabsorption techniques for purifying proteins Monitoring the purity of protein solutions Protein Chromatography Giorgio Carta, Alois Jungbauer, 2010-06-08 With its focus on process development and large scale bioseparation tasks this is tailor made reading for the professional bioengineer in both the biotech and pharmaceutical industries Following a tried and tested concept this guide has been developed over several years in training courses for biotech and chemical engineers in Europe and the U S The first part deals with the theory introducing chromatography and its dynamics as well as discussing mass transfer and dispersion effects The second part then goes on to cover equipment and protocols determining the retention factor and HETP from isocratic and elution experiments as well as the mass transfer and intraparticle diffusivity from batch and shallow bed adsorption experiments Photophysics of Ionic Biochromophores Steen Brøndsted Nielsen, Jean Ann Wyer, 2013-10-16 This book provides a concise overview of the photophysics and spectroscopy of bio chromophore ions The book Photophysics of Ionic Biochromophores summarizes important recent advances in the spectroscopy of isolated biomolecular ions in vacuo which has within the last decade become a highly active research field Advanced instrumental apparatus and the steady increase in more and more powerful computers have made this development possible both for experimentalists and theoreticians Applied techniques described here include absorption and fluorescence spectroscopy which are excellent indicators of environmental effects and can thus shed light on the intrinsic electronic structures of ions without perturbations from e.g. water molecules counter ions nearby charges and polar amino acid residues When compared with spectra of the chromophores in their natural environment such spectra allow to identify possible perturbations At the same time gas phase spectra provide important benchmarks for quantum chemistry calculations of electronically excited states This volume focuses on biological systems from protein biochromophores e g the protonated Schiff base retinal responsible for vision and individual aromatic amino acids to peptides and whole proteins studied using visible ultraviolet and vacuum ultraviolet light Work on DNA nucleotides and strands that are amenable to mass spectrometric studies because of the negatively charged sugarphosphate backbone are also presented DNA strands represent an example of the interplay between multiple chromophores which is even harder to model correctly than just single chromophores due to spatially extended excited states and weak coupling terms The experimental techniques used to measure spectra and commonly used theoretical methods are described with a discussion on limitations and advantages The volume includes an updated status of the field and interesting future directions such as cold ion spectroscopy

Biochemistry of Smooth Muscle Contraction Michael Barany, 1996-01-04 This valuable resource provides a systematic account of the biochemistry of smooth muscle contraction As a comprehensive guide to this rapidly growing area of research it covers the structure and characteristic properties of contractile and regulatory proteins with special emphasis on their predicted function in the live muscle Also included in this book are intermediate filament proteins and desmin and vimentin whose function in smooth muscle is unknown and several enzymes involved in the phosphorylation dephosphorylation of contractile and other proteins

The Jewish Nobel Prize in Chemistry Isaac Benguigui, 2021-11-16 One of the outstanding and remarkable traits of Jews throughout their history several thousand years old has been their creativity in all fields especially in science They have participated in an impressive way in the questioning of values the dismantling of dogmas and the irruption of hidden forces It can be stressed from the outset that the contributions of the Jews to science was out of proportion to the percentage of the population they represent This remains true for the chemistry of the twentieth century Through the life and work of twenty three Nobel Prize winners in chemistry the author gives us a fascinating story of these men often exiles and of modest origins whose science was their vocation and the sharing of knowledge their creed

Proteins Thomas E.
