Book And Network Theorizing Knowledge Work Telecommunications:

Network Clay Spinuzzi, 2008 How does a telecommunications company function when its right hand often doesn't know what its left hand is doing How do rapidly expanding interdisciplinary organizations hold together and perform their knowledge work In this book Clay Spinuzzi draws on two warring theories of work activity activity theory and actor network theory to examine the networks of activity that make a telecommunications company work and thrive In doing so Spinuzzi calls a truce between the two theories bringing them to the negotiating table to parley about work Specifically about network the work that connects coordinates and stabilizes polycontextual work activities To develop this uneasy dialogue Spinuzzi examines the texts trades and technologies at play at Telecorp both historically and empirically Drawing on both theories Spinuzzi provides new insights into how network actually works and how our theories and research methods can be extended to better understand it Publisher description All Edge Clay Spinuzzi, 2015-03-17 Work is changing Speed and flexibility are more in demand than ever before thanks to an accelerating knowledge economy and sophisticated communication networks These changes have forced a mass rethinking of the way we coordinate collaborate and communicate Instead of projects coming to established teams teams are increasingly converging around projects Spinuzzi offers for the first time a comprehensive framework for understanding how these new groups function and thrive His rigorous analysis tackles both the pros and cons of this evolving workflow and is based in case studies of real all edge adhocracies at work His provocative results will challenge our long held assumptions about how we should be doing work

Professional Communication and Network Interaction Heidi A. McKee, James E. Porter, 2017-06-14 Digital technologies and social media have changed the processes products and interactions of professional communication reshaping how when with whom and where business professionals communicate This book examines these changes by asking How does rhetorical theory need to adapt and develop to address the changing practices of professional communication Drawing from classical and contemporary rhetorical theory and from in depth interviews with business professionals the authors present a case based approach for exploring the changing landscape of professional communication The book develops a rhetorical theory based on networked interaction and rhetorical ethics seeing professional communication as involving new kinds of networked interactions that require an integrated view of rhetoric and ethics The book applies this frame to a variety of communication cases involving for example employee missteps on social media corporate consumer interactions and the developing use of artificial intelligence agents AI bots to handle online communication Cross-Border Networks in Writing Studies Derek Mueller, Andrea Williams, 2017-02-18 Cross Border Networks in Writing Studies coordinates mixed methods approaches to survey interview and case study data to study Canadian writing studies scholars The authors argue for networked disciplinarity the notion that ideas arise and flow through intellectual networks that connect scholars not only to one another but to widening networks of human and nonhuman actors Although the Canadian field is historically rooted in the themes of location and national culture expressing a tension between Canadian independence and dependence on the US field more recent research suggests a more hybridized North American scholarship rather than one defined in opposition to rhetoric and composition in the US In tracing identities roles and rituals of nationally bound considerations of how disciplinarity has been constructed through distant and close methods this multi scaled multi scopic approach examines the texture of interdependent constructions of the Canadian discipline Cross Border Networks in Writing Studies also launches a collaborative publishing network between Canadian publisher Inkshed and US publisher Parlor Press

Solving Problems in Technical Communication Johndan Johnson-Eilola, Stuart A. Selber, 2024-05-31 The field of technical communication is rapidly expanding in both the academic world and the private sector yet a problematic divide remains between theory and practice Here Stuart A Selber and Johndan Johnson Eilola both respected scholars and teachers of technical communication effectively bridge that gap Solving Problems in Technical Communication collects the latest research and theory in the field and applies it to real world problems faced by practitioners problems involving ethics intercultural communication new media and other areas that determine the boundaries of the discipline The book is structured in four parts offering an overview of the field situating it historically and culturally reviewing various theoretical approaches to technical communication and examining how the field can be advanced by drawing on diverse perspectives Timely informed and practical Solving Problems in Technical Communication will be an essential tool for undergraduates and graduate students as they begin the transition from classroom to career

Genre Networks and Empire Xiaoye You, 2023-03-31 This book argues that political persuasion expanded in early imperial China through diverse written genres and that what ancient Chinese called wenti jingwei or genre networks provides the central means to understand rhetoric and government at the time

Practice Theory and Education Julianne Lynch, Julie Rowlands, Trevor Gale, Andrew Skourdoumbis, 2016-11-25 Practice Theory and Education challenges how we think about practice examining what it means across different fields and sites It is organised into four themes discursive practices practice change and organisations practising subjectivity and professional practice public policy and education Contributors to the collection engage and extend practice theory by drawing on the legacies of diverse social and cultural theorists including Bourdieu de Certeau Deleuze and Guattari Dewey Latour Marx and Vygotsky and by building on the theoretical trajectories of contemporary authors such as Karen Barad Yrjo Engestrom Andreas Reckwitz Theodore Schatzki Dorothy Smith and Charles Taylor The proximity of ideas from different fields and theoretical traditions in the book highlight key matters of concern in contemporary practice thinking including the historicity of practice the nature of change in professional practices the place of discursive material in practice the efficacy of refiguring conventional understandings of subjectivity and agency and the capacity for theories of practice to disrupt conventional understandings of asymmetries of power and resources Their juxtaposition also points to areas of contestation and raises important questions for future research Practice Theory and Education will appeal to postgraduate students academics and researchers in professional practice and education and scholars working with social theory It will be of particular interest to those who wish to move beyond the limiting configurations of practice found in contemporary neoliberal new managerialist and narrow representationalist discourses Rewriting Partnerships Rachael W. Shah,2020-05-15 Winner of the IARSLCE 2021 Publication of the Year Award and the Coalition for Community Writing Outstanding Book Award Community members are rarely tapped for their insights on engaged teaching and research but without these perspectives it is difficult to create ethical and effective practices Rewriting Partnerships calls for a radical reorientation to the knowledges of community partners Emphasizing the voices of community members themselves the adult literacy learners secondary students and youth activists who work with college students the book introduces Critical Community Based Epistemologies a deeply practical approach to knowledge construction that centers the perspectives of marginalized participants Drawing on interviews with over eighty community members Rewriting Partnerships features community knowledges in three common types of community engaged learning youth working with college students in a writing exchange program nonprofit staff who serve as clients for student projects and community members who work with graduate students Interviewees from each type of partnership offer practical strategies for creating more ethical collaborations including how programs are built how projects are introduced to partners and how graduate students are educated The book also explores three approaches to partnership design that create space for community voices at the structural level advisory boards participatory evaluation and community grading Immediately applicable to teachers researchers community partners and administrators involved in community engagement Rewriting Partnerships offers concrete strategies for creating more community responsive partnerships at the classroom level as well as at the level of program and research design But most provocatively the book challenges common assumptions about who can create knowledge about community based learning demonstrating that community partners have the potential to contribute significantly to community engagement scholarship and program decision making Rhetorics Change / Rhetoric's Change Jenny Rice,Chelsea Graham,Eric Detweiler,2018-05-01 Rhetorics Change Rhetoric s Change features selected essays multimedia texts and audio pieces from the 2016 Rhetoric Society of America biennial conference which spotlighted the theme Rhetoric and Change The pieces are broadly focused around eight different lines of thought Aural Rhetorics Rhetoric and Science Embodiment Digital Rhetorics Languages and Publics Apologia Revolution Reflection and Intersectionality Interdisciplinarity and the Future of Feminist Rhetoric Simultaneously familiar yet new the value of this collection can be found in the range of its modes and voices The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology and Anthropology of Rock Art Bruno David,Ian J. McNiven,2018 Rock art is one of the most visible and geographically widespread of cultural expressions and it spans much of the period of our species existence Rock art also provides rare and often unique insights into the minds and visually creative capacities of our ancestors and how selected rock outcrops with distinctive images were used to construct symbolic landscapes and shape worldviews Equally important rock art is often central to the expression of and engagement with spiritual entities and forces and in all these dimensions it signals the diversity of cultural practices across place and through time Over the past 150 years archaeologists have studied ancient arts on rock surfaces both out in the open and within caves and rock shelters and social anthropologists have revealed how people today use art in their daily lives The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology and Anthropology of Rock Art showcases examples of such research from around the world and across a broad range of cultural contexts giving a sense of the art's regional variability its antiquity and how it is meaningful to people in the recent past and today including how we have ourselves tended to make sense of the art of others replete with our own preconceptions It reviews past present and emerging theoretical approaches to rock art investigation and presents new cutting edge methods of rock art analysis for the student and professional researcher alike
