amount of work building the foundations of safe operations aviation accidents still happen and prior to many accidents and other safety related events there was unexpressed or ignored disquiet as the last minute approached the last minute being that time when there is no longer time for discussion or analysis only safety first action This book aims at the assurance of better outcomes from these time critical situations whose genesis lies in the time period immediately preceding the last minute This assurance of better outcomes can best be assured by enabling operational managers to adopt new paradigms in the development of SOPs building the right culture and implementation of training programs relevant to good decision making required as the last minute approaches This book examines the development of the foundations for aviation safety the things that give foundational support for safety to pilots in particular but over which line pilots may have little knowledge or day to day control It provides a history of time critical safety related events providing the foundation for the understanding of the reasons why pilot inactivity indifference fixation and incapacitation can so pervade the lead up to the last minute as to leave the safe continuation of the flight resting on prompt remedial action The role of doubt how it is expressed and how it is heard is another central thread Finally the book addresses the role of flight data analysis as a valuable management tool Written for aviation managers line flight crews and those in similar operational roles in aviation related operations this book and its informal discussion style should appeal and communicate across national age experience and language boundaries to create a safer operational environment

Handbook of Air Quality and Climate Change Hajime Akimoto, Hiroshi Tanimoto, 2023-09-27 This handbook covers the air quality air pollution from the viewpoints of causing impacts on human ecosystem health and climate change. Traditionally air pollution has been a concern mainly in terms of its impacts on human health and it is still an immediate public and governmental concern in most Asian countries. However in recent years so called extreme weather events such as stronger tropical cyclones, flooding, drought and other phenomena have been manifested causing tremendous losses of human lives and properties. Importantly climate models tell us that such extreme weather events are actually induced by anthropogenic global warming. It has been pointed out that mitigation or alleviation of such climate change leading to the extreme weather events in the next 30 years can be possible only by reducing air pollutants with positive radiative forcing such as ozone or methane which are called short lived climate pollutants (SLCPs). Here concerns about mitigation of air pollutants from the points of human health and climate change have merged. This book covers different kinds of air pollutants and radiative forcers and how they can be measured. It also mentions the situation of air pollutants in different continents and their regional impacts to human health, environment and economy as well as their link to extreme weather events. The book presents how the air pollution and climate change can be mitigated and how clean air technologies and international initiatives for controlling air pollution and climate change have been developed.
