The Way I See It Lerato Tshabalala, 2016-07-01 Lerato Tshabalala first came to our attention in 2011 with her Urban Miss column in the Sunday Times and since then she has by turns entertained exasperated amused and confounded her fans and critics alike Now with her first book she looks set to become the national institution she deserves to be With her customary wit and keen insight into social political and cultural affairs Lerato shines a bright and controversial light on South African society and the quirky ways of the country She is brutally honest about her experiences as a black South African in post apartheid Mzansi and no subject is too sacred for her to explore annoying car guards white dominated corporate South Africa cultural stereotypes economic and racial inequality and gender politics among many other topics come under her careful and often laugh out loud scrutiny The Way I See It is written for people who are hungry for a book that is thought provoking funny irreverent and truly South African all at the same time It is light but full of depth like a supermodel with an MBA

Black and White Richard Williams, 2014-05-01 The fascinating revealing and in depth memoir of Richard Williams a self made businessman tennis coach and father to two of the greatest athletes of all time Venus and Serena Williams Richard Williams had a grand plan for his daughters long before either of them was born and he went so far as to write a plan for his family s future His mind was set on raising two of the greatest women champions in professional tennis Arguably he executed his plan with laser like precision But the source of his vision and the method behind it have remained relatively unknown until now In this inspiring memoir he reveals the full story of his stubborn determination to beat the odds and fulfill his dreams for his family Born into poverty in Shreveport Louisiana in the 1940s Richard was blessed by a strong caring mother who remained his lifelong hero just as he became hero to Venus and Serena later on From the beginning of his life Richard s mother taught him to live by the principles of courage confidence commitment faith and love He passed the same qualities on to his daughters who grew to love their father and value the lessons he taught them contrary to public rumors I still feel really close to my father says Serena We have a great relationship There is an appreciation There is a closeness because of what we ve been through together and a respect A self made man Richard has walked a long hard exciting and ultimately rewarding road for seventy years surmounting the many symbolic racism a new form of racism in America caused by the stubbornly powerful stereotype of the ghetto embedded in the white imagination which subconsciously connects all Black people with crime and poverty regardless of their social or economic position White people typically avoid Black space but Black people are required to navigate the white space as a condition of their existence From Philadelphia street corner conversations to Anderson's own morning jogs through a Cape Cod vacation town he probes a wealth of experiences to shed new light on how symbolic racism makes all Black people uniquely vulnerable to implicit bias in police stops and racial discrimination in our country Back cover
