Aesthetic Science Connecting Minds Brains And Experience:

Aesthetic Science Arthur P. Shimamura, Stephen E. Palmer, 2012-01-02 What do we do when we view a work of art What does it mean to have an aesthetic experience Are such experiences purely in the eye of the beholder This book addresses the nature of aesthetic experience from the perspectives of philosophy psychology and neuroscience Aesthetics on the Edge Dominic McIver Lopes, 2018-05-10 Philosophers say what art is and then scientists and then other scholars study how we are equipped cognitively and socially to make art and appreciate it This time honoured approach will not work Recent science reveals that we have poor intuitive access to artistic and aesthetic phenomena Dominic McIver Lopes argues for a new approach that mandates closer integration from the start between aesthetics and the human sciences In these eleven essays he proposes a methodology especially suited to aesthetics where problems in philosophy are addressed principally by examining how aesthetic phenomena are understood in the human sciences Since the human sciences include much of the humanities as well as the social behavioural and brain sciences the methodology promises to integrate arts research across the academy Aesthetics on the Edge opens with a four essays outlining the methodology and its potential The following essays put the methodology to work shedding light on the perceptual and social pragmatic capacities that are implicated in responding to works of art especially images but also music literature and conceptual art Experiencing Art Arthur

Shimamura, 2015-04-15 How do we appreciate a work of art Why do we like some artworks but not others Is there no accounting for taste Awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship to explore connections between art mind and brain Shimamura considers how we experience art In a thoughtful and entertaining manner the book explores how the brain interprets art by engaging our sensations thoughts and emotions It describes interesting findings from psychological and brain sciences as a way to understand our aesthetic response to art Beauty disgust surprise anger sadness horror and a myriad of other emotions can occur as we experience art Some artworks may generate such feelings rather quickly while others depend on thought and knowledge Our response to art depends largely on what we know from everyday knowledge about the world from our cultural backgrounds and from personal experience Filled with artworks from many traditions and time points

Experiencing Art offers insightful ways of broadening one's approach and appreciation of art Aesthetics and the

Sciences of Mind Gregory Currie, Matthew Kieran, Aaron Meskin, Jon Robson, 2014 How far should philosophical accounts of the value and interpretation of art be sensitive to the scientific approaches used by psychologists sociologists and evolutionary thinkers A team of experts urge different answers to this question and explore how empirical inquiry can shed light on problems traditionally regarded as philosophical Psychocinematics Arthur P. Shimamura, 2014-02-15 Largely through trial and error filmmakers have developed engaging techniques that capture our sensations thoughts and feelings Philosophers and film theorists have thought deeply about the nature and impact of these techniques yet few scientists have delved into empirical analyses of our movie experience or what Arthur P Shimamura has coined psychocinematics This edited volume introduces this exciting field by bringing together film theorists philosophers psychologists and neuroscientists to consider the viability of a scientific approach to our movie experience

The Cambridge Handbook of the Psychology of Aesthetics and the Arts Pablo P. L. Tinio, Jeffrey K. Smith, 2014-10-30 The psychology of aesthetics and the arts is dedicated to the study of our experiences of the visual arts music literature film performances architecture and design our experiences of beauty and ugliness our preferences and dislikes and our everyday perceptions of things in our world The Cambridge Handbook of the Psychology of Aesthetics and the Arts is a foundational volume presenting an overview of the key concepts and theories of the discipline where readers can learn about the questions that are being asked and become acquainted with the perspectives and methodologies used to address them The psychology of aesthetics and the arts is one of the oldest areas of psychology but it is also one of the fastest growing and most exciting areas This is a comprehensive and authoritative handbook featuring essays from some of the most respected scholars in the field

Film, Art, and the Third Culture

Murray Smith, 2017-03-24 In the mid 1950s C P Snow began his campaign against the two cultures the debilitating divide as he saw it between traditional literary intellectual culture and the culture of the sciences urging in its place a third culture which would draw upon and integrate the resources of disciplines spanning the natural and social sciences the arts and the humanities Murray Smith argues that with the ever increasing influence of evolutionary theory and neuroscience and the pervasive presence of digital technologies Snow's challenge is more relevant than ever Working out how the scientific and everyday images of the world hang together is no simple matter In Film Art and the Third Culture Smith explores this question in relation to the art technology and science of film in particular and to the world of the arts and aesthetic activity more generally In the first part of his book Smith explores the general strategies and principles necessary to build a third cultural or naturalized approach to film and art one that roots itself in an appreciation of scientific knowledge and method Smith then goes on to focus on the role of emotion in film and the other arts as an extended experiment in the third cultural integration of ideas on emotion spanning the arts humanities and sciences While acknowledging that not all of the questions we ask are scientific in nature Smith contends that we cannot disregard the insights wrought by taking a naturalized approach to the aesthetics of film and the other arts
