Negotiating a Settlement in Northern Ireland, 1969-2019 John Coakley,Jennifer Todd,2020-01-09 Negotiating a Settlement in Northern Ireland From Sunningdale to St Andrews uses original material from witness seminars elite interviews and archive documents to explore the shape taken by the Irish peace process and in particular to analyse the manner in which successful stages of this were negotiated Northern Ireland s Good Friday Agreement of 1998 marked the end a 30 year conflict that had witnessed more than 3 000 deaths thousands of injuries catastrophic societal damage and large scale economic dislocation This book traces the roots of the Agreement over the decades stretching back to the Sunningdale conference of 1973 and extending up to at least the St Andrews Agreement of 2006 It describes the changing relationship between parties to the conflict nationalist and unionist groups within Northern Ireland and the Irish and British governments and identifies three dimensions of significant change new ways of implementing the concept of sovereignty growing acceptance of power sharing and the steady emergence of substantial equality in the socio economic cultural and political domains As well as placing this in the context of an extensive social science literature the book innovates by looking at the manner in which those most closely involved understood the process in which they were engaged The authors reproduce testimonies from witness seminars and interviews involving central actors including former prime ministers ministers senior officials and political advisors They conclude that the outcome was shaped by a distinctive interaction between the conscious planning of these elites and changing demographic and political realities that themselves were in a symbiotic way consequences of decisions made in earlier years They also note the extent to which this settlement has come under pressure from new notions of sovereignty implicit in the Brexit process

Ethnic Stratification and Economic Inequality around the World Max Haller in collaboration, Anja Eder, 2016-03-03 The modern world is characterised by pervasive economic inequalities Strong economic growth in some developing countries has contributed to a degree to a reduction in the levels of inequality between nations yet inequality within nations remains high and in some cases continues to increase Ethnic Stratification and Economic Inequality around the World investigates the reasons for these striking differences exploring the coincidence and interaction between economic stratification and ethnic differentiation Drawing on extensive international survey and statistical data the author develops a new theory and concrete hypotheses concerning the conditions which lead toward extreme inequality and those which tend toward greater equality A systematic examination of the interaction between class structures social stratification and ethnic differentiation this book sheds light on the manner in which the resulting social structures produce different levels of economic inequality offering a fivefold typology of patterns of ethnic stratification which can be applied to present day world regions Drawing on the work of Max Weber to provide a rigorous investigation of inequality around the world it demonstrates what sociology as a science of social reality can significantly contribute to our understanding of global economic stratification The book is relevant for a wide social scientific audience particularly for sociologists economists and political scientists working in a comparative perspective

The Role of the Public Bureaucracy in Policy Implementation in Five ASEAN Countries Jon S. T. Quah, 2016-02-12 This pioneering book addresses an important gap in the literature by comparing the role of the public bureaucracies in policy implementation in Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Vietnam It highlights the importance of the policy context especially the commitment of the government in allocating the necessary resources and the support of the implementers as well as the public bureaucracy's effectiveness as the critical factors responsible for effective policy implementation. The comparative analysis shows that the public bureaucracies in Singapore and Malaysia are more effective in policy implementation than their counterparts in Indonesia, the Philippines, and Vietnam because of their favourable policy contexts and higher level of organizational effectiveness. The focus on policy context and the public bureaucracy's role in the policy making process and its implementation of two ASEAN policies will be of interest to policymakers, civil servants, scholars, and students concerned with enhancing policy implementation in the ASEAN countries.
