The Emotional Structure of Stories

Affective Narratology:

Affective Narratology Patrick Colm Hogan, 2011-11-01 Stories engage our emotions We've known this at least since the days of Plato and Aristotle What this book helps us to understand now is how our own emotions fundamentally organize and orient stories In light of recent cognitive research and wide reading in different narrative traditions Patrick Colm Hogan argues that the structure of stories is a systematic product of human emotion systems Examining the ways in which incidents events episodes plots and genres are a function of emotional processes he demonstrates that emotion systems are absolutely crucial for understanding stories Hogan also makes a case for the potentially integral role that stories play in the development of our emotional lives He provides an in depth account of the function of emotion within story in widespread genres with romantic heroic and sacrificial structures and more limited genres treating parent child separation sexual pursuit criminality and revenge as these appear in a variety of cross cultural traditions In the course of the book Hogan develops interpretations of works ranging from Tolstoy's Anna Karenina to African oral epics from Sanskrit comedy to Shakespearean tragedy Integrating the latest research in affective science with narratology this book provides a powerful explanatory account of narrative organization Story and Emotion Per Thomas Andersen, 2016 Narratology

Genevieve Liveley, 2019-03-28 This volume explores the extraordinary contribution that classical poetics has made to twentieth and twenty first century theories of narrative aiming not to argue that modern narratologies simply present old wine in new wineskins but rather to identify the diachronic affinities shared between ancient and modern stories about storytelling By recognizing that modern narratologists bring a particular expertise to bear upon ancient literary theory and by interrogating ancient and modern narratologies through the mutually imbricating dynamics of their reception it seeks to arrive at a better understanding of both Each chapter selects a key moment in the history of narratology on which to focus providing an overview of significant phases before offering detailed analyses of core theories and texts from the Russian formalists and Chicago school neo Aristotelians through the prestructuralists structuralists and poststructuralists up to the latest unnatural and antimimetic narratologists The reception history that thus unfolds offers some remarkable plot twists and yields valuable insights into the interpretation of some notoriously difficult ancient works Plato in the Republic is unmasked as an unreliable narrator and theorist while Aristotle's On Poets reveals a rare glimpse of the philosopher putting narrative theory into practice in the role of storyteller Horace's Ars Poetica and the works of ancient scholia by critics and commentators evince a rhetorically conceived poetics and sophisticated reader response based narratology which indicate a keen interest in audience affect and cognition anticipating the cognitive turn in narratology's most recent postclassical phase

Unnatural Narratives - Unnatural Narratology Jan Alber, Rüdiger Heinze, 2011-09-29 In recent years the study of unnatural narratives has become an exciting new but still disparate research program in narrative theory For the first time this collection of essays presents and discusses the new analytical tools that have so far been developed on the basis of unnatural novels short stories and plays and extends these findings through analyses of testimonies comics graphic novels films and oral narratives Many narratives do not only mimetically reproduce the world as we know it but confront us with strange narrative worlds which rely on principles that have very little to do with the actual world around us The essays in this collection develop new narratological tools and modeling systems which are designed to capture the strangeness and extravagance of such anti realist narratives Taken together the essays offer a systematic investigation of anti mimetic techniques and strategies that relate to different narrative parameters different media and different periods within literary history

Emotions and Narrative in Ancient Literature and Beyond, 2022-04-25 Emotions are at the core of much ancient literature from Achilles heartfelt anger in Homer's Iliad to the pangs of love of Virgil's Dido This volume applies a narratological approach to emotions in a wide range of texts and genres It seeks to analyze ways in which emotions such as anger fear pity joy love and sadness are portrayed Furthermore using recent insights from affective narratology it studies ways in which ancient narratives evoke emotions in their readers The volume is dedicated to Irene de Jong for her groundbreaking research into the narratology of ancient literature

Ethnic American Literatures and Critical Race Narratology Alexa Weik von Mossner, Marijana Mikić, Mario Grill, 2022-06-16 Ethnic American Literatures and Critical Race Narratology explores the relationship between narrative race and ethnicity in the United States Situated at the intersection of post classical narratology and context oriented approaches in race ethnic and cultural studies the contributions to this edited volume interrogate the complex and varied ways in which ethnic American authors use narrative form to engage readers in issues related to race and ethnicity along with other important identity markers such as class religion gender and sexuality Importantly the book also explores how paying attention to the formal features of ethnic American literatures changes our understanding of narrative theory and how narrative theories can help us to think about author functions and race The international and diverse group of contributors includes top scholars in narrative theory and in race and ethnic studies and the texts they analyze concern a wide variety of topics from the representation of time and space to the narration of trauma and other deeply emotional memories to the importance of literary paratexts genre structures and author functions

Handbook of Narratology Peter Hühn, Jan Christoph Meister, John Pier, Wolf Schmid, 2014-10-10 This handbook provides a systematic overview of the present state of international research in narratology and is now available in a second completely revised and expanded edition Detailed individual studies by internationally renowned narratologists elucidate central terms of narratology present a critical account of the major research positions and their historical development and indicate directions for future research

Object-Oriented Narratology Marie-Laure Ryan, 2024-06 The quick spread of posthumanism and of critiques of anthropomorphism in the past few decades has resulted in greater attention to concrete objects in critical theories and in philosophy This new materialism or new object philosophy marks a renewal of interest in the existence of objects Yet while their mode of existence is independent of human cognition it cannot erase the relation of

subject to object and the foundational role of our experience of things in our mental activity These developments have important implications for narratology Traditional conceptions of narrative define its core components as setting characters and plot but nonhuman entities play a crucial role in characterizing the setting in enabling or impeding the actions of characters and thus in determining plot Marie Laure Ryan and Tang Weisheng combine a theoretical approach that defines the basic narrative functions of objects with interpretive studies of narrative texts that rely more closely on ideas advanced by proponents of new object philosophy Object Oriented Narratology opens new theoretical horizons for narratology and offers individual case studies that demonstrate the richness and diversity of the ways in which narrative both Western and non Western deals with humans relationships to their material environment and with the otherness of objects The Practice of Narrative: Storytelling in a Global Context Michael Heitkemper-Yates, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2016 Story can have a power and presence that stretches beyond the vast unspeakable boundaries of time and space and yet story can also have a delicate impermanence that lasts no longer than a moment before it flashes back into the void Some stories can bring people together other stories can tear entire civilisations apart Stories express and enliven experience stories project and describe the desires and anxieties of existence Stories can be narrated through written word and physical gesture through graphic illustration and musical orchestration through the spatial dynamics of architecture and the abstract poetics of conjecture For these and myriad other reasons storytelling and narrative are central to humanity and the study of these practices is central to an understanding of what it means to be human In this volume the many narrative dimensions media and critical approaches to storytelling are explored with the common intention of comprehending and appreciating the global role that story plays in the articulation of human experience Emerging Vectors of Narratology Per Krogh Hansen, John Pier, Philippe Roussin, Wolf Schmid, 2017-08-07 Narratology has been flourishing in recent years thanks to investigations into a broad spectrum of narratives at the same time diversifying its theoretical and disciplinary scope as it has sought to specify the status of narrative within both society and scientific research The diverse endeavors engendered by this situation have brought narrative to the forefront of the social and human sciences and have generated new synergies in the research environment Emerging Vectors of Narratology brings together 27 state of the art contributions by an international panel of authors that provide insight into the wealth of new developments in the field The book consists of two sections Contexts includes articles that reframe and refine such topics as the implied author narrative causation and transmedial forms of narrative it also investigates various historical and cultural aspects of narrative from the narratological perspective Openings expands on these and other questions by addressing the narrative turn cognitive issues narrative complexity and metatheoretical matters The book is intended for narratologists as well as for readers in the social and human sciences for whom narrative has become a crucial matrix of inquiry
