The Evolution of British Gerontology Miriam Bernard, Mo Ray, Jackie Reynolds, 2020-04-01. Half a century of UK gerontology research theory policy and practice are under the spotlight in this landmark critical review of the subject that places the country's achievements in an international context. Drawing on the archives of the British Society of Gerontology and interviews with dozens of the most influential figures in the field it provides a comprehensive picture of key developments and issues and looks to the future to plot new directions in thinking. This is the story of the remarkable progress of gerontology told through the eyes of those who have led it.

Ageing, Neuropsychology and the 'New' Dementias Una Holden, 2024-05-10. Up to the 1990s the influence of brain function disturbances and causes of dementia in the elderly had mostly been overlooked as a possible explanation for antisocial or unusual behaviour. As a result these had tended not to be included in assessment and training programmes. Originally published in 1995 Ageing Neuropsychology and the New Dementias introduces the concepts of neuropsychology and behaviour and the recent research on dementia to equip the professional user with the most up to date knowledge of these influences on ageing. This practical resource fills the gaps in knowledge and practice by providing a wealth of explanations suggestions for assessments and approaches to common problems encountered with this age group. Chapters focus on such issues as recognizing the problems of head injuries misinterpreted behaviour and impairments to brain function re examining the concept of dementia management rehabilitation and training community care. This text would be invaluable to nurses occupational therapists physiotherapists psychologists and other health professionals working with the elderly.

Narrative Identity and Dementia Marie A Mills, 2018-08-10. First published in 1998 this book is a study on the influence of emotions on autobiographical memory in dementia. Based on eight in depth case studies of older people with dementia collected over a two year period the general findings of this innovative study reveal the strength and durability of the personal narrative even as cognitive processes decline. Using a psychotherapeutic approach the author is able to demonstrate that the retention of a personal past give a sense of narrative identity and well being to sufferers of dementia and has an important part to play in dementia care training Researchers teachers and students will find this book a useful resource together with those who work in the field of ageing and dementia care Rehabilitation Studies Handbook

Barbara A. Wilson,D. L. McLellan,1997-01-28 A valuable resource for all those involved in the care and rehabilitation of people with disability Integrates the concepts and principles of rehabilitation with good clinical practice
