I Got There JeVon McCormick, 2021-04-15 He was born the mixed race son of a negligent drug dealing pimp father and a struggling single mother He was raised in the slums of Dayton Ohio suffered incredible abuse and racism and had multiple stints in the juvenile justice system He barely graduated high school and has no college degree No one expected him to succeed But succeed he did Starting out by scrubbing toilets JT hustled and worked his way into better opportunities eventually finding incredible success in the mortgage industry He was on top of the world And then it all fell apart He lost his job and his money But instead of stopping him this setback became the springboard for him to reach even greater heights eventually becoming President of a multimillion dollar software company and then CEO of a multimillion dollar book publishing startup Gripping heartbreaking enlightening and ultimately uplifting I Got There proves that no obstacle is too difficult to conquer and that the game can be won by anyone from anywhere

It's a Setup Timothy Black, Sky Keyes, 2021 The expectation for fathers to be more involved with parenting their children and pitching in at home are higher than ever yet broad social political and economic changes have made it more difficult for low income men to be fathers In It's a Setup Timothy Black and Sky Keyes ground a moving and intimate narrative in the political and economic circumstances that shape the lives of low income fathers Based on 138 life history interviews they expose the contradiction that while the norms and expectations of father involvement have changed rapidly within a generation labor force and state support for fathering on the margins has deteriorated Tracking these life histories they move us through the lived experiences of job precarity welfare cuts punitive child support courts public housing neglect and the criminalization of poverty to demonstrate that without transformative systemic change individual determination is not enough Fathers on the social and economic margins are setup to fail

Fast Food, Fast Track Jennifer Talwar, 2018-03-05 Praise for Fast Food Fast Track A fine ethnography with both theoretical and advocative significance representing the best qualitative sociology Choice Explores the intimate realities and behind the scenes exchanges of a multiethnic work force serving the typical American meal Through a lively narrative and insightful stories Jennifer Parker Talwar gives a full sense of what it's like to live in both a global economy and a local culture Sharon Zukin author of The Cultures of Cities No longer just pocket money for American teens wages paid by multinational fast food chains are going to a new generation of order takers burger flippers and basket fryers newly arrived immigrants hailing from China the Caribbean Latin America and India a colorful sea of faces has taken its place behind one of the most ubiquitous American business institutions the fast food counter They have become a vital link between the growing service sector in our cities ethnic enclaves and the multi billion dollar global fast food industry For four years sociologist Jennifer Parker Talwar went behind the counter herself and listened to immigrant fast food workers in New York City s ethnic communities They talked about balancing their low paying jobs and monotonous daily reality with keeping the faith that these very jobs could be the first step on the path to the American Dream In this original and compelling work of ethnography Talwar shows that contrary to those arguing that the fast food industry only represents an increasing homogenization of the American workforce fast food chains in immigrant communities must and do adapt to their surroundings
