Suzanne Linder, Elizabeth Majerus, 2016-07-11 Can I Teach That Negotiating Taboo Language and Controversial Topics in the Language Arts Classroom is a collection of stories strategies advice and documents collected for teachers who are using or plan to use materials or implement policies they know may be controversial It is for any teacher dedicated to engaging their students in the complex challenging and rewarding activities of reading and writing for any teacher committed to speaking honestly with students For any teacher period Because when we decide to work with young people when we commit to sharing books and ideas that engage their hearts and minds when we strive to get adolescents to think critically and write honestly we open ourselves up to suspicion and critique from someone somewhere no matter how above reproach we feel our materials and strategies are Few language arts teachers will experience a full blown challenge to the content of their curriculum but many may self-censor or suffer through awkward and challenging conversations with colleagues administrators parents and other members of their community This book is for those times when teachers are called on to defend and legitimize their use of controversial material in their classroom material that they know reflects students reality even as it makes adults uncomfortable and fearful about their inability to protect children from that very reality

Juggling Flaming Chain Saws Joanne M. Marshall, Jeffrey S. Brooks, Kathleen M. Brown, Leslie Hazle Bussey, Bonnie Fusarelli, Catherine A. Lugg, Latish C. Reed, George Theoharis, Mark A. Gooden, 2012-11-01 Challenges of work life balance in the academy stem from policies and practices which remain from the time when higher education was populated mostly by married White male faculty Those faculty were successful in their academic work because they depended upon the support of their wives to manage many of the not-work aspects of their lives Imagine a tweedy middle-aged white man coming home from the university to greet his wife and children and eat the dinner she's prepared for him and then disappearing into his study for the rest of the evening with his pipe to write and think great thoughts If that professor ever existed he is now emeritus Juggling Flaming Chainsaws

is the first book in a new series with Information Age Publishing on these challenges of managing academic work and not work. It uses the methodology of autoethnography to introduce the work life issues faced by scholars in educational leadership. While the experiences of scholars in this volume are echoed across other fields in higher education, educational leadership is unique because of its emphasis on preparing people for leadership roles within higher education and for preK-12 schools. Authors include people at different places on their career and life course trajectory, people who are partnered and single, gay and straight, with children and without, caring for elders and managing illness. They hail from different geographic areas of the nation, different ethnic backgrounds and different types of institutions. What all have in common is commitment to engaging with this topic, to reflecting deeply upon their own experience and to sharing that experience with the rest of us.
