Bully Beef And Biscuits Bully Beef And Biscuits:

Bully Beef and Biscuits - Food in the Great War John Hartley, 2015 Napoleon Bonaparte is often credited with saying that an army marches on its stomach A hundred years after his time the soldiers of the Great War would do little marching Instead they would fight their battles from cold muddy trenches looking out across No Man s Land towards another set of trenches that housed the enemy It is one of the remarkable successes of the war that they rarely went hungry During the war the army grew from its peacetime numbers of 250 000 to well over 3 million They needed three meals a day and using the men s own letters and diaries John Hartley tells the story of the food they ate how it got to them in those trenches and what they thought of it It s the story of eating bully beef and army dog biscuits under fire and it s the story of the enjoyment of food parcels from home or eating egg and chips in a caf on a rare off duty evening It s also the story of the lives of loved ones at home how they coped with rationing and how women changed their place in society taking on jobs previously held by men many working as farm laborers in the Women s Land Army This is a book which will appeal to food lovers as well as those with an interest in military and social history The Rotarian, 1943-12 Established in 1911 The Rotarian is the official magazine of Rotary International and is circulated worldwide Each issue contains feature articles columns and departments about or of interest to Rotarians Seventeen Nobel Prize winners and 19 Pulitzer Prize winners from Mahatma Ghandi to Kurt Vonnegut Jr have written for the magazine The Biscuit Lizzie Collingham, 2020-10-29 Bourbons Custard Creams Rich Tea Jammie Dodgers Chocolate Digestives Shortbread Ginger snaps Which is your favourite British people eat more biscuits than any other nation they are as embedded in our culture as fish and chips or the Sunday roast We follow the humble biscuit s transformation from durable staple for sailors explorers and colonists to sweet luxury for the middling classes to comfort food for an entire nation Like an assorted tin of biscuits this charming and beautifully illustrated book has something to offer for everyone combining recipes for hardtack and macaroons Shrewsbury biscuits and Garibaldi s with entertaining and eye opening vignettes of social history Heart and Soul Jack London Riehl, 2010 Gardens I spend a lot of quiet time in gardens And not alone for God is also there In gardens joy prevails against despair For seeds of hope and faith and love and joy Grow very well in gardens In Heart and Soul retired high school English teacher Jack London Riehl shares a poignant collection of poetic family reminiscence light military verse and tender love poems that provides an engaging portrayal of one man s life Jack Riehl begins his compilation with his first two poems he wrote at age eighteen a required assignment for all high school yearbook staff that culminated in fueling his life long passion for written verse In his unique style Riehl interjects a mix of wry humor and a whimsical view of life as he offers an armchair philosopher s insight into how he learned to conquer disappointment face the dilemmas of a soldier laugh at himself and think youthfully as he journeyed through eighty eight adventurous years Accompanied by over twenty timeless photographs Heart and Soul offers wisdom for both the young and the old as it tenderly leads others through the circle of life Tea, Rum and Fags Alan Weeks, 2011-11-08 It is said that an army marches on its stomach but histories of the First World War usually concentrate on its political and military aspects The gargantuan task of keeping the British Expeditionary Force fed and watered is often overlooked yet without adequate provision the soldiers would never have been able to fight Tommy couldn't get enough tea rum or fags yet his commanders sent him bully beef and dog biscuits But it was amazing how 2 million men did not usually go short of nourishment although parcels from home canteens and estaminets had a lot to do with that Incredibly Tommy could be in a civilised town supping beer wine egg and chips and a few hours later making do with bully beef in a water filled trench Alan Weeks examines how the army got its food and drink and what it was like

Taste of War Lizzie Collingham, 2012-03-29 A New York Times Notable Book of 2012 Food and in particular the lack of it was central to the experience of World War II In this richly detailed and engaging history Lizzie Collingham establishes how control of food and its production is crucial to total war How were the imperial ambitions of Germany and Japan ambitions which sowed the seeds of war informed by a desire for self sufficiency in food production How was the outcome of the war affected by the decisions that the Allies and the Axis took over how to feed their troops And how did the distinctive ideologies of the different combatant countries determine their attitudes towards those they had to feed Tracing the interaction between food and strategy on both the military and home fronts this gripping original account demonstrates how the issue of access to food was a driving force within Nazi policy and contributed to the decision to murder hundreds of thousands of useless eaters in Europe Focusing on both the winners and losers in the battle for food The Taste of War brings to light the striking fact that war related hunger and famine was not only caused by Nazi Germany and Imperial Japan but was also the result of Allied mismanagement and neglect particularly in India Africa and China American dominance both during and after the war was not only a result of the United States immense industrial production but also of its abundance of food This book traces the establishment of a global pattern of food production and distribution and shows how the war subsequently promoted the pervasive influence of American food habits and tastes in the post war world A work of great scope The Taste of War connects the broad sweep of history to its intimate impact upon the lives of individuals

The South Notts Hussars The Western Desert, 1940-1942 Peter Hart, 2011-03-31 The Second World War is vanishing into the pages of history The veterans were once all around us but their numbers are fast diminishing While still in their prime many recorded their memories with Peter Hart for the Imperial War Museum As these old soldiers now fade away their voices from the front are still strong with a rare power to bring the horrors of war back to vivid life The South Notts Hussars were the pride of

Nottingham A territorial artillery unit made up of a strange mixture of miners from Hucknall the clerical classes working in Nottingham and some of the richest families in Nottinghamshire They went to war as a widely disparate group Their service in North Africa was dramatic in the extreme Trapped in Tobruk for six months their 25 pounder guns helped keep Rommel's panzers at bay By the time they moved forward to take up their positions at Knightsbridge in the Gazala Lines in the Spring of 1942 they had been welded into a real band of brothers proud of their proven fighting ability Caught without infantry or tank support in the Cauldron they were ordered to fight to the last round This is their story
