Dirk Raat, 2022-02-08 A comparative history of the relocation and removal of indigenous societies in the Greater American Southwest during the mid nineteenth century Lost Worlds of 1863 Relocation and Removal of American Indians in the Central Rockies and the Greater Southwest offers a unique comparative narrative approach to the diaspora experiences of the Apaches O odham and Yaqui in Arizona and Sonora the Navajo and Yavapai in Arizona the Shoshone of Utah the Utes of Colorado the Northern Paiutes of Nevada and California and other indigenous communities in the region Focusing on the events of the year 1863 W Dirk Raat provides an in depth examination of the mid nineteenth century genocide and devastation of the American Indian Addressing the loss of both the identity and the sacred landscape of indigenous peoples the author compares various kinds of relocation between different indigenous groups ranging from the removal and assimilation policies of the United States government regarding the Navajo and Paiute people to the outright massacre and extermination of the Bear River Shoshone The book is organized around detailed individual case studies that include extensive histories of the pre contact Spanish and Mexican worlds that created the context for the pivotal events of 1863 This important volume Narrates the history of Indian communities such as the Yavapai Apache O odham and Navajo both before and after 1863 Addresses how the American Indian has been able to survive genocide and in some cases thrive in the present day Discusses topics including Indian slavery and Lincoln s Emancipation Proclamation the Yaqui deportation Apache prisoners of war and Great Basin tribal politics Explores Indian ceremonial rites and belief systems to illustrate the relationship between sacred landscapes and personal identity Features sub chapters on topics such as the Hopi Navajo land controversy and Native American boarding schools Includes numerous maps and illustrations contextualizing the content for readers Lost Worlds of 1863 Relocation and Removal of American Indians in the Central Rockies and the Greater Southwest is essential reading for academics students and general readers with interest in Western history Native American history and the history of Indian White relations in the United States and Mexico Returning Home Farina King, Michael P. Taylor, James R. Swensen, 2021-11-02 Returning Home features and contextualizes the creative works of Din Navajo boarding school students at the Intermountain Indian School which was the largest federal Indian boarding school between 1950 and

1984 Din student art and poetry reveal ways that boarding school students sustained and contributed to Indigenous cultures and communities despite assimilationist agendas and pressures This book works to recover the lived experiences of Native American boarding school students through creative works student interviews and scholarly collaboration It shows the complex agency and ability of Indigenous youth to maintain their Din culture within the colonial spaces that were designed to alienate them from their communities and customs Returning Home provides a view into the students experiences and their connections to Din community and land Despite the initial Intermountain Indian School agenda to send Din students away and permanently relocate them elsewhere Din student artists and writers returned home through their creative works by evoking senses of Din Bik yah and the kinship that defined home for them Returning Home uses archival materials housed at Utah State University as well as material donated by surviving Intermountain Indian School students and teachers throughout Utah Arizona and New Mexico Artwork poems and other creative materials show a longing for cultural connection and demonstrate cultural resilience This work was shared with surviving Intermountain Indian School students and their communities in and around the Navajo Nation in the form of a traveling museum exhibit and now it is available in this thoughtfully crafted volume By bringing together the archived student arts and writings with the voices of living communities Returning Home traces recontextualizes reconnects and returns the embodiment and perpetuation of Intermountain Indian School students everyday acts of resurgence Santa Fe Elizabeth West,2012 This question and answer book contains 400 reminders of what is known and what is sometimes forgotten or misunderstood about a city that was founded more than 400 years ago Not a traditional history book this group of questions is presented in an apparently random order and the answers occasionally meander off topic as if part of a casual conversation
