

A photograph of two young boys playing soccer on a green lawn. The boy on the left is wearing a dark blue t-shirt and shorts, and is in a dynamic pose as if kicking or blocking the ball. The boy on the right is wearing a white polo shirt and patterned shorts, and is also in a dynamic pose, leaning forward. A blue and white soccer ball is on the grass in the foreground. In the background, there are green bushes and a white house with a grey roof.

What Makes Learning Fun? Deborah L. Perry, 2012-05-04 Although much has been written in recent years on what museum visitors actually experience there is little research backed guidance available for developing meaningful exhibits and programs for specific educational purposes Deborah Perry looks at what we know about the experiences of people in museums and other informal learning settings and then shares a set of tested principles and strategies known as the Selinda Model for the design of effective museum exhibits Along the way she showcases examples of both effective and ineffective exhibit designs drawn from two decades of work in the field
