Architecture and Film Mark Lamster, 2000 An examination of the ways in which architecture and architects are treated on screen and how these depictions filter and shape the ways we understand the built environment There are essays from contributors from a range of disciplines and interviews of those working behind the scenes Film, Architecture and Spatial Imagination Renée Tobe, 2016-08-25 Films use architecture as visual shorthand to tell viewers everything they need to know about the characters in a short amount of time Illustrated by a diverse range of films from different eras and cultures this book investigates the reciprocity between film and architecture Using a phenomenological approach it describes how we the viewers can learn how to read architecture and design in film in order to see the many inherent messages Architecture's representational capacity contributes to the plausibility or reality possible in film The book provides an ontological understanding that clarifies and stabilizes the reciprocity of the actual world and a filmic world of illusion and human imagination thereby shedding light on both film and architecture Atlas of Emotion Giuliana Bruno, 2002 Maps a cultural history of spatio visual art emphasizing that sight and site but also motion and emotion are irrevocably connected Design Culture Now Donald Albrecht, Ellen Lupton, Steven Holt, 2000-03 Written and assembled by three leading critics and curators Donald Albrecht Ellen Lupton and Steven Skov Holt the book explores the design artifacts and practices that will define the twenty first century BOOK JACKET Architecture and Science-Fiction Film David T. Fortin, 2016-12-05 The home is one of our most enduring human paradoxes and is brought to light tellingly in science fiction SF writing and film However while similarities and crossovers between architecture and SF have proliferated throughout the past century the home is often overshadowed by the spectacle of otherness The study of the familiar home within the alien SF creates a unique cultural lens through which to reflect on our current architectural condition SF has always been linked with alienation however the conditions of such alienation and hence notions of home have evidently changed There is often a perceived comprehension of the familiar that atrophies the inquisitive and interpretive processes commonly activated when confronting the unfamiliar Thus by utilizing the estranging qualities of SF to look at a concept inherently linked to its perceived opposite the home a unique critical analysis with particular relevance for contemporary architecture is made possible Studios Before the System Brian R. Jacobson, 2015-09-01 By 1915 Hollywood had become the epicenter of American filmmaking with studio dream factories structuring its vast production Filmmakers designed Hollywood studios with a distinct artistic and industrial mission in mind which in turn influenced the form content and business of the films that were made and the impressions of the people who viewed them The first book to retell the history of film studio architecture Studios Before the System expands the social and cultural footprint of cinema's virtual worlds and their contribution to wider developments in global technology and urban modernism Focusing on six significant early film corporations in the United States and France the Edison Manufacturing Company American Mutoscope and Biograph American Vitagraph Georges Méliès Star Films Gaumont and

Path Fr res as well as smaller producers and film companies Studios Before the System describes how filmmakers first envisioned the space they needed and then sourced modern materials to create novel film worlds Artificially reproducing the natural environment film studios helped usher in the world s Second Industrial Revolution and what Lewis Mumford would later call the specific art of the machine From housing workshops for set prop and costume design to dressing rooms and writing departments studio architecture was always present though rarely visible to the average spectator in the twentieth century providing the scaffolding under which culture film aesthetics and our relation to lived space took shape

Architecture and Science-fiction Film David Terrance Fortin,2011 The enduring paradoxes of the home are often brought to light in science fiction SF writing and film However while crossovers between architecture and SF have proliferated the home is often overshadowed by the spectacle of otherness By examining the home from the estranging perspective of SF and in particular the films based on Phillip K Dick s books this work offers a unique critical analysis with particular relevance for contemporary architecture
