Enabling Fidelity to God Jason A. Whitlark, 2009-02-19 The primary focus of this book is to demonstrate how Hebrews represents in view of its historical and religious context human fidelity to God Thus the basic thesis is twofold First with regard to the divine human relationship in the ancient Mediterranean world the belief in the reciprocity rationale was one primary dynamic for establishing fidelity to a relationship and has been applied by some scholars such as David deSilva to Hebrews as the way to understand its strategy for creating perseverance A major problem with the application of this dynamic is that a common optimistic anthropological assumption is associated with the various reciprocity systems in the ancient world both Jewish and pagan This assumption is required if reciprocity is to be effective for establishing ongoing fidelity Second there was however a middle Judaic stream that can be traced from the period of the exile which held to a pessimistic anthropology This anthropological assumption crippled the perceived success of reciprocity to secure fidelity Thus the solution to God s people s inability to remain faithful was an act of God that transformed the human condition and enabled faithfulness to the relationship The argument of this book is that Hebrews with its emphasis upon the inauguration of the new covenant by Jesus high priestly ministry belongs to this latter stream of thought in understanding how fidelity is secured between God and his people Hebrews thus implicitly rejects the rationale of reciprocity for fidelity The implications of this offers a fresh perspective on the soteriology of Hebrews

Harrison,2025-07-01 Theological and practical reflections on demographic change in the church Numerous churches are contending with the challenges posed by declining membership and attendance While these trends have most recently been ascribed to the COVID 19 pandemic the trajectory predates the pandemic and is likely to continue beyond it William Harrison takes the perspective that demographic decline is merely a reality rather than a failure to be resolved with new strategies and examines the theological and ecclesiological questions posed by a shrinking church In theological and practical reflections Harrison examines the twin crises of identity and leadership facing the church arguing that in response to demographic change churches must renew their outward focus on evangelism and service These characteristics of a diaconal church are rooted in sacramental life and self understanding in a sacramental world At the same time leaders must find ways to support these activities while managing decline Leadership in a Shrinking Church connects theological reflection to mission by identifying some of the challenges presented by decline and connecting them to productive responses Five
