Roscoe, 2012-07-26 If you want an inexpensive environmentally sound source of energy for your home you need look no further than the sun Solar heat is not subject to rate increases is totally renewable pollution free and requires little or no technology It is here for you today and can easily provide up to 50% of your space and water heating requirements This is a book that simply and clearly explains the principles of using solar energy to heat your home Anyone building a new home or renovating an old one can incorporate one or several aspects of solar energy into their design Taking you through the process of designing a solar home from the ground up this manual is also a basic course in conservation and sustainable house design If you live in a heating climate meaning if you have space heating requirements for most of the year then this is an invaluable resource A house is the biggest single investment most of us will make in our lives the way it is built and how it operates can reflect a long term investment in both the building and the planet Renewable Energy Technology

Handbook for Military Engineers, 1982 The Residential Energy Audit Manual United States. Department of Energy, 1981 Active Solar Systems George O. G. Löf, 1993 Active Solar Systems is volume 6 in a series that surveys advances in solar energy research since the oil shock of the early 1970s Books in the series document in particular the period 1973 to 1985 which spawned a rich array of federally financed technological programs and developments facilitating the practical use of solar energy The twenty two contributions in Active Solar Systems introduce design analysis and control methods for active systems and cover advances in the interconnected technologies for water heating space heating and space cooling They show that with effective marketing and with environmental costs factored into individual consumer decisions there is strong potential for solar water heating and space heating and that solar cooling has potential but needs further development to become commercially viable The details of the materials involved in these technologies are covered in volume 5 Solar Collectors Energy Storage and Materials The Secretary's Annual Report to Congress United States.

Department of Energy, 1991 Energy Resources and Systems Tushar K. Ghosh, Mark A. Prelas, 2011-06-27 This second volume of Energy Resources and Systems is focused on renewable energy resources Renewable energy mainly comes from wind solar hydropower geothermal ocean bioenergy ethanol and hydrogen Each of these energy resources is important and growing For example high head hydroelectric energy is a well established energy resource and already contributes about 20% of the world's electricity Some countries have significant high head resources and produce the bulk of their electrical power by this method However the bulk of the world's high head hydroelectric resources have not been exploited particularly by the underdeveloped countries Low head hydroelectric is unexploited and has the potential to be a growth area Wind energy is the fastest growing of the renewable energy resources for the electricity generation Solar energy is a popular renewable energy resource Geothermal energy is viable near volcanic areas Bioenergy and ethanol have grown in recent years primarily due to changes in public policy meant to encourage its usage Energy policies stimulated the growth of ethanol for example with the unintended side effect of rise in food prices Hydrogen has been pushed as a transportation fuel The authors want to provide a comprehensive series of texts on the interlinking of the nature of energy resources the systems that utilize them the environmental effects the socioeconomic impact the political aspects and governing policies Volume 1 on Fundamentals and Non Renewable Resources was published in 2009 It blends fundamental concepts with an understanding of the non renewable resources that dominate today s society The authors are now working on Volume 3 on nuclear advanced energy resources and nuclear batteries consists of fusion space power systems nuclear energy conversion nuclear batteries and advanced power fuel cells and energy storage Volume 4 will cover environmental effects remediation and policy Solutions to providing long term stable and economical energy is a complex problem which links social economical technical and environmental issues It is the goal of the four volume Energy Resources and Systems series to tell the whole story and provide the background required by students of energy to understand the complex nature of the problem and the importance of linking social economical technical and environmental issues
