Business Networks in Asia Frank-Jürgen Richter, 1999-05-30 Despite the current crisis Asian economies remain an important market for firms around the world and continue to be stiff competitors in world business One reason for the region's strength and a predictor of Asia's endurance are its business networks Ikeiretsus R in Japan Ichaebols R in Korea and other forms that connect single firms entire industries and which interlink the region as a whole Richter and his contributors examine the origins of business networks their effects on the economies and the implications of their presence and growth in Asian economies Corporate strategic planners marketing executives and other decision makers will find here an important contribution to their understanding of why Asia s economies will pick up again and how they will continue to grow The book examines the promises of business networks and the role of transaction costs interdependence and membership commitment The contributors do not automatically assume that past successes of these networks will mean future successes rather they define the outlines of new and innovative forms of networks and see in their configurations an even better platform for further economic development in Asia and for the globalization of Asian multinationals Contributors offer a critical approach to theory and practice of Asian networking and because of their national diversity are able to provide a variety of viewpoints on them Research based and presenting the thinking of scholars and practitioners alike the book supplies expert knowledge and a basis for academic discourse on managerial policy not easily found elsewhere Chinese Entrepreneurship and Asian Business Networks Thomas Menkhoff, Gerke Solvay, 2012-11-12 The degree to which the extensive business networks of ethnic Chinese in Asia succeed because of ethnic characteristics or simply because of the sound application of good business practice is a key question of great current concern to those interested in business management and economic development in Asia This book brings together a range of leading experts who present original new research findings and important new thinking on this vital subject Based on rich empirical research data and a multidisciplinary explanatory framework this book assesses the role characteristics and challenges of Chinese entrepreneurship and business networks in various East and Southeast Asian countries the People s Republic of China Vietnam Malaysia Singapore Indonesia and Australia Chinese Entrepreneurship and Asian Business Networks demonstrates that Chinese network capitalism is contingent upon for example time place institutional frameworks and that explanatory approaches of Chinese economic behaviour which stress culture and ethnicity are too simplistic International Business Strategy in Complex Markets Hans

Jansson, 2020-06-26 In this revised second edition Hans Jansson develops and applies an international business strategy framework to contemporary complex global markets This cutting edge textbook explores the major challenges associated with doing business in complex and turbulent emerging markets and how MNCs in mature markets execute strategies to meet these challenges International Business Strategy in Emerging Country Markets Hans Jansson, 2008-03-01 The book outlines and develops an integrated and pragmatic socio economic approach towards undertaking effective MNC strategy in emerging country markets This labelled the institutional network approach INA applies a new strategic perspective to international business operations and emphasises the continuous interplay between institutions and networks in designing and executing global strategies The INA integrates the shareholder and stakeholder viewpoint into a comparative holistic perspective of international business strategy based on a broader societal approach Economic Governance and the Challenge of Flexibility in East Asia Frederic C. Deyo, Richard F. Doner, Eric Hershberg, 2002-05-30 This book analyzes the institutional underpinnings of East Asia's dynamic growth by exploring the interplay between governance and flexibility. As the challenges of promoting and sustaining economic growth become ever more complex, firms in both advanced and industrializing countries face constant pressures for change from markets and technology. Globalization, heightened competition, and shorter product cycles mean that markets are increasingly volatile and fragmented. To contend with demands for higher quality, quicker delivery, and cost efficiencies, firms must enhance their capability to innovate and diversify. Achieving this flexibility in turn often requires new forms of governance arrangements that facilitate the exchange of resources among diverse yet interdependent economic actors. Moving beyond the literature's emphasis on developed economies, this volume emphasizes the relevance of the links between governance and flexibility for understanding East Asia's explosive economic growth over the past quarter century. In case studies that encompass a variety of key industrial sectors and countries, the contributors emphasize the importance of network patterns of governance for facilitating flexibility in firms throughout the region. Their analyses illuminate both the strengths and limitations of recent growth strategies and offer insights into prospects for continued expansion in the wake of the East Asian economic crisis of the late 1990s. Contributions by Richard P. Appelbaum, Lu Lin Cheng, Stephen W. K. Chiu, Frederic C. Deyo, Richard F. Doner, Dieter Ernst, Eric Hershberg, Tai Lok, Lui Rajah, Rasiah David A. Smith, and Poh Kam Wong.

Social Aspects of Asian Economic Growth Gordon Redding, Chris Rowley, 2018-10-16 There are, in simple terms, three principal kinds of capital that come necessarily into play when a society is evolving towards improving the lives, livelihoods, and qualities of life of its people. The first form of capital is financial; this normally includes physical forms of invested money in plant, buildings, and infrastructure. The second form of capital is human, seen simply as the level and range of skills and capabilities that are available for use in the society. When people are literate, numerate, skilled, experienced, informed, cooperative, and inquisitive, they and their societies can do much more. The third form of capital is social. Here, cooperativeness shows its effects, and the rules of how that works vary greatly between societies. It is the second of these elements, human capital, that is the main focus of this book, but it overlaps with social capital extensively in these accounts and can only be understood in terms of its connections into the wider societal system. The varying patterns of its workings and influence in different Asian contexts are explained against the background of a theory of societal progress. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Asia Pacific Business Review.

International Business Marketing in Emerging Country Markets Hans Jansson, 2007-01-01 This book illustrates how multinational corporations (MNCs) solve the business-to-business or industrial marketing problems they encounter in markets in large emerging countries. The author finds that traditional ideas and frameworks used for analyzing forming and implementing international business marketing strategy in mature markets are in need of adjustment before they are applied to emerging country markets. Accordingly, the author develops the institutional network approach to address the specific challenges afforded by these markets Current Issues in International Entrepreneurship Hamid Etemad, Tage Koed Madsen, Erik S. Rasmussen, Per Servais, 2013-11-29 The editors and contributors to this volume show how conventional theories of entrepreneurship and business do not fully address the challenges inherent in achieving and sustaining global competitiveness Over the course of 11 research based chapters
