work which gathers previously uncollected essays and a series of seminars delivered at Bennington in 1971 Greenberg provides his most expansive statement of his views on taste and quality in art arguing for an esthetic that flies in the face of current art world fashions Greenberg insists despite the attempts from Marcel Duchamp onwards to escape the jurisdiction of taste by producing an art so disjunctive that it cannot be judged that taste is inexorable He argues that standards of quality in art the artist's responsibility to seek out the hardest demands of a medium and the critic's responsibility to discriminate are essential conditions for great art The obsession with innovation the epidemic of newness leads in Greenberg's view to the boringness of so much avant garde art He discusses the interplay of expectation and surprise in aesthetic experience and the exalted consciousness produced by great art Homemade Esthetics allows us particularly in the transcribed seminar sessions never before published to watch the critic's mind at work defending and at times reconsidering his theories His views often controversial are the record of a lifetime of looking at and thinking about art as intensely as anyone ever has
