Politics of Religious Freedom Winnifred Fallers, Elizabeth Shakman Hurd, Saba Mahmood, Peter G. Danchin, 2015-07-22 In a remarkably short period of time the realization of religious freedom has achieved broad consensus as an indispensable condition for peace Faced with widespread reports of religious persecution public and private actors around the world have responded with laws and policies designed to promote freedom of religion But what precisely is being promoted What are the cultural and epistemological assumptions underlying this response and what forms of politics are enabled in the process The fruits of the three year Politics of Religious Freedom research project the contributions to this volume unsettle the assumption ubiquitous in policy circles that religious freedom is a singular achievement an easily understood state of affairs and that the problem lies in its incomplete accomplishment Taking a global perspective the more than two dozen contributors delineate the different conceptions of religious freedom predominant in the world today as well as their histories and social and political contexts Together the contributions make clear that the reasons for persecution are more varied and complex than is widely acknowledged and that the indiscriminate promotion of a single legal and cultural tool meant to address conflict across a wide variety of cultures can have the perverse effect of exacerbating the problems that plague the communities cited as falling short

At Home and Abroad Elizabeth Shakman Hurd, Winnifred Fallers Sullivan, 2021-03-02 From right to left notions of religion and religious freedom are fundamental to how many Americans have understood their country and themselves Ideas of religion politics and the interplay between them are no less crucial to how the United States has engaged with the world beyond its borders Yet scholarship on American religion tends to bracket the domestic and foreign despite the fact that assumptions about the differences between ourselves and others deeply shape American religious categories and identities At Home and Abroad bridges the divide in the study of American religion law and politics between domestic and international bringing together diverse and distinguished authors from religious studies law American studies sociology history and political science to explore interrelations across conceptual and political boundaries. They bring into sharp focus the ideas, people, and institutions that provide links between domestic and foreign religious politics and policies. Contributors break down the categories of domestic and foreign and inquire into how these taxonomies are related to other axes of discrimination, asking questions such as: What and who counts as home or abroad? How and by whom are these determinations made and with what consequences? Offering a new approach to theorizing the politics of religion in the context of the American nation-state, At Home and Abroad also interrogates American religious exceptionalism and illuminates imperial dynamics beyond the United States.

The Oxford Handbook of International Security Alexandra Gheciu, William C. Wohlforth, 2018-03-08 This Oxford Handbook is the definitive volume on the state of international security and the academic field of security studies. It provides a tour of the most innovative and exciting new areas of research as well as major developments in established lines of inquiry. It presents a comprehensive portrait of an exciting field with a distinctively forward-looking theme focusing on the question: what does it mean to think about the future of international security? The key assumption underpinning this volume is that all scholarly claims about international security, both normative and positive, have implications for the future. By examining international security to extract implications for the future, the volume provides clarity about the real meaning and practical implications for those involved in this field. Yet contributions to this volume are not exclusively forecasts or prognostications; the volume reflects the fact that within the field of security studies there are diverse views on how to think about the future. Readers will find in this volume some of the most influential mainstream positivist voices in the field of international security as well as some of the best-known scholars representing various branches of critical thinking about security. The topics covered in the Handbook range from conventional international security themes such as arms control, alliances, and Great Power politics to new security issues such as global health, the roles of non-state actors, cyber security, and the power of visual representations in international security.

The Oxford Handbooks of International Relations is a twelve-volume set of reference books offering authoritative and innovative engagements with the principal sub-fields of International Relations. The series as a whole is under the General Editorship of Christian Reus Smit of the University of Queensland and Duncan Snidal of the University of Oxford, with each volume edited by specialists in the field. The series both surveys the broad terrain of International Relations scholarship and reshapes it, pushing each sub-field in challenging new directions. Following the example of Reus Smit and Snidal's original Oxford Handbook of International Relations, each volume is organized around a strong central thematic by scholars drawn from different perspectives, reading its sub-field in an entirely new way and pushing scholarship in challenging new directions.

The chapters address many topics including the changing relationship between Islam and politics in Tunisia after the 2010 revolution the influence of religion on the sharp turn to the political right in Western Europe understandings of Confucianism as a form of secularism and the alliance between evangelical Christians and neoliberal business elites in the United States since the 1970s This volume also provides a methodological template for how humanities scholars around the world can collaboratively engage with sweeping issues of global significance Contributors Markus Balkenhol Elizabeth Bentley Kambiz GhaneaBassiri David N Gibbs Ori Goldberg Marcia Klotz Zeynep Kurtulus Korkman Leerom Medovoi Eva Midden Mohanad Mustafa Mu chou Poo Shaul Setter John Vignaux Smith Pooyan Tamimi Arab Ernst van den Hemel Albert Welter Francis Ching Wah Yip Raef Zreik

Fundamentalism or Tradition Aristotle Papanikolaou, George E. Demacopoulos, 2019-11-05

Traditional secular and fundamentalist all three categories are contested yet in their contestation they shape our sensibilities and are mutually implicated the one with the others This interplay brings to the foreground more than ever the question of what it means to think and live as Tradition The Orthodox theologians of the twentieth century in particular have emphasized Tradition not as a dead letter but as a living presence of the Holy Spirit But how can we discern Tradition as living discernment from fundamentalism What does it mean to live in Tradition when surrounded by something like the secular These essays interrogate these mutual implications beginning from the understanding that whatever secular or fundamentalist may mean they are not Tradition which is historical particularistic in motion ambiguous and pluralistic but simultaneously not relativistic Contributors R Scott Appleby Nikolaos Asproulis Brandon Gallaher Paul J Griffiths Vigen Guroian Dellas Oliver Herbel Edith M Humphrey Slavica Jakeli Nadieszda Kizenko Wendy Mayer Brenna Moore Graham Ward Darlene Fozard Weaver
