Leading Change While Loving People Yulee Lee, 2022-12-16 Filled with stories of successful social change leadership in diverse contexts this book demonstrates that the best change agents love the people involved most of all Many people have experienced change trauma under leaders whose agenda was more important than anything or anyone else so it is no wonder that change failure rates are often reported as 40% to 70% There is another way change leaders who work to solve some of the world's toughest problems realize that working with others is necessary to accomplishing a social change mission. This book shares the insights of those who lead social change in the non-profit sector and shows how they catalyze the urgency for connect people toward and continue momentum for a desired change. Their stories reveal three interconnected dimensions of leading change: people, relationships, and process. Communicating for change and purpose, the change mission. Ultimately, readers will learn that strengthening social capital, people centering, marginal voices, process, and aligning stakeholders to the change mission purpose are critical to the work of change agents who value relationships. Leveraging well-known models and elevating little heard voices, this book flips the script of conventional leadership books by focusing on non-profit social change leaders rather than business titans. Students, managers, and leaders across sectors will value these new insights along with a relationally focused process and strategy for leading change and practical tips and recommendations for implementation.
