Rousselot,2014-11-13 This collection of essays is dedicated to examining the recent literary phenomenon of the neo historical novel a sub genre of contemporary historical fiction which critically re imagines specific periods of history Botany Bay and the First Fleet Alan Frost,2019-06-04 Now in one definitive volume Botany Bay and the First Fleet is a full authentic account of the beginnings of modern Australia In 1787 a convoy of eleven ships carrying about 1400 people set out from England for Botany Bay on the east coast of New South Wales In deciding on Botany Bay British authorities hoped not only to rid Britain of its excess criminals but also to gain a key strategic outpost and take control of valuable natural resources According to the conventional account it was a shambolic affair under prepared poorly equipped and ill disciplined Here Alan Frost debunks these myths and shows that the voyage was in fact meticulously planned reflecting its importance to Britain s imperial and commercial ambitions In his examination of the ships passengers and preparation Frost reveals the hopes and schemes of those who engineered the voyage and the experiences of those who made it The culmination of thirty five years study of previously neglected archives Botany Bay and the First Fleet offers new and surprising insights into how Australia came to be Australian Words and Their Origins Joan Hughes,1989 This is a concise edition of the Australian National Dictionary OUP 1989 which was hailed as a major asset for readers studying Australian literature that made all earlier dictionaries of Australian English obsolete The volume contains nearly as many headwords as the original edition yet provides fewer collations and indicates the first recorded and most recent use of a word. It retains the parent volume's comprehensive coverage of uniquely Australian words and phrases: words for indigenous flora, fauna, and pastimes, and Aboriginal terms.

Antipodean America Paul Giles, 2013-12-11. Although North America and Australasia occupy opposite ends of the earth, they have never been that far from each other conceptually. The United States and Australia both began as British colonies, and mutual entanglements continue today when contemporary cultures of globalization have brought them more closely into juxtaposition. Taking this transpacific kinship as his focus, Paul Giles presents a sweeping study that spans two continents and over three hundred years of literary history to consider the impact of Australia and New Zealand on the formation of U.S. literature. Early American writers such as Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, Joel Barlow, and Charles Brockden Brown found the idea of antipodes to be a creative resource, but also an alarming reminder of Great Britain's increasing sway in the Pacific. The southern seas served as inspiration for narratives by Washington Irving, Edgar Allan Poe, and Herman Melville. For African Americans such as Harriet Jacobs, Australia represented a haven from slavery during the gold rush era, while for E. D. E. N. Southworth, its convict legacy offered an alternative perspective on the British class system. In the 1890s, Henry Adams and Mark Twain both came to Australasia to address questions of imperial rivalry and aesthetic tropy. The second half of this study considers how Australia's political unification through Federation in 1901 significantly altered its relationship to the United States. New modes of transport and communication drew American visitors, including novelist Jack London. At the same time, Americans associated Australia and New Zealand with various kinds of utopian social reform, particularly in relation to gender politics, a theme Giles explores in William Dean Howells, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, and Miles Franklin. He also considers how American modernism in New York was inflected by the Australasian perspectives of Lola Ridge and Christina Stead, and how Australian modernism was in turn shaped by American styles of iconoclasm. After World War II, Giles examines how the poetry of Karl Shapiro, Louis Simpson, Yusef Komunyakaa, and others was influenced by their direct experience of Australia. He then shifts to post-1945 fiction, where the focus extends from Irish American cultural politics (Raymond Chandler, Thomas Keneally) to the paradoxes of exile (Shirley Hazzard, Peter Carey) and the structural inversions of postmodernism and posthumanism (Salman Rushdie, Donna Haraway). Ranging from figures like John Ledyard to John Ashbery, from Emily Dickinson to Patricia Piccinini, and J. M. Coetzee, Antipodean America is a truly epic work of transnational literary history.

A Water Story Geoff Beeson, 2020-02-03. Freshwater scarcity is a critical challenge with social, economic, political, and environmental consequences. Water crises in Australia have already led to severe restrictions being applied in cities, drought ravaging farmlands, and the near-terminal decline of some rivers and wetlands. A Water Story provides an account of Australian water management practices set against important historical precedents and the contemporary experience of other countries. It describes the nature and distribution of the country's natural water resources, management of these resources by Indigenous Australians, the development of urban water supply, and support for pastoral activities and agricultural irrigation with the aid of case studies and anecdotes This is followed by discussion of the environmental consequences and current challenges of water management including food supply energy and climate change along with options for ensuring sustainable adequate high quality water supplies for a growing population A Water Story is an important resource for water professionals and those with an interest in water and the environment and related issues as well as students and the wider community APAIS 1999: Australian public affairs information service ,
