

The image shows a close-up of a person's arm with a large, intricate tattoo. The tattoo is divided into two main parts. On the right, there is a circular Sri Yantra mandala, a complex geometric design consisting of nine interlocking triangles that radiate from a central point, surrounded by two concentric circles of lotus petals. To the left of the mandala is a colorful, segmented, snake-like or dragon-like creature. The creature's body is composed of several rounded, overlapping segments in shades of blue, purple, and red. It appears to be coiled or moving towards the mandala. The background of the tattoo is a light tan or beige color, with some faint, wavy lines suggesting scales or skin texture. The overall style is a mix of traditional Indian sacred geometry and modern, colorful tattoo art.
