Blood Land A Hard Boiled Murder Mystery:

Guilty But Insane Samantha Walton, 2015-01-29 Guilty But Insane takes an historical approach to golden age detective fiction by Margery Allingham Christianna Brand Agatha Christie Dorothy L Sayers and Gladys Mitchell It examines how writers and readers of detective fiction during the 1920s to 1940s understood guilt responsibility and the workings of the mind as they related to the commission the investigation and the punishment of crime Under the lens of psychology the detective novel is revealed as a site for the negotiation of competing interpretations of sanity and insanity An unexplored depth and subtlety is revealed in detective novels that address major controversies in legal and psychiatric theory and practice while significant resonances with specific concerns of modernist fiction come into focus for the first time During the interwar years proponents of competing psychological schools challenged legal concepts of responsibility and free will In response golden age writers began to reflect on the genre's promise to accomplish true and just solutions in a social order in which the relationship between law and justice was being problematized on several fronts By making connections between high modernism and popular culture and by tracing the impact of psychological discourses across a range of different cultural outputs this book makes a persuasive case for reading detective fiction historically It aims to demonstrate the richness of these texts and their value for scholarship not only as historical documents or residues of discourse but as literary texts which challenge subvert toy with and test the prevailing values and prejudices of interwar Britain Cracking the Hard-Boiled Detective Lewis D. Moore, 2015-01-24 The hard boiled private detective is among the most recognizable characters in popular fiction since the 1920s a tough product of a violent world in which police forces are inadequate and people with money can choose private help when facing threatening circumstances Though a relatively recent arrival the hard boiled detective has undergone steady development and assumed diverse forms This critical study analyzes the character of the hard boiled detective from literary antecedents through the early 21st century It follows change in the novels through three main periods the Early roughly 1927 1955 during which the character was defined by such writers as Carroll John Daly Dashiell Hammett and Raymond Chandler the Transitional evident by 1964 in the works of John D MacDonald and Michael Collins and continuing to around 1977 via Joseph Hansen Bill Pronzini and others and the Modern since the late 1970s during which such writers as Loren D Estleman Liza Cody Sara Paretsky Sue Grafton and many others have expanded the genre and the detective character Themes such as violence love and sexuality friendship space and place and work are examined throughout the text Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here The Creeping Shadow Sam Merwin (Jr.), 1952 Vampires in the New World Louis H.
