Blurred Borders Transnational Migration Between The Hispanic Caribbean And The United States:

Blurred Borders Jorge Duany, 2011-09-12 In this comprehensive comparative study Jorge Duany explores how migrants to the United States from Cuba the Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico maintain multiple ties to their countries of origin Chronicling these diasporas from the end of World War II to the present Duany argues that each sending country's relationship to the United States shapes the transnational experience for each migrant group from legal status and migratory patterns to work activities and the connections migrants retain with their home countries Blending extensive ethnographic archival and survey research Duany proposes that contemporary migration challenges the traditional concept of the nation state Increasing numbers of immigrants and their descendants lead what Duany calls bifocal lives bridging two or more states markets languages and cultures throughout their lives Even as nations attempt to draw their boundaries more clearly the ceaseless movement of transnational migrants Duany argues requires the rethinking of conventional equations between birthplace and residence identity and citizenship borders and boundaries

Aquí and Allá Camilla Stevens, 2019-10-22 Aquí and Allá Transnational Dominican Theater and Performance explores how contemporary Dominican theater and performance artists portray a sense of collective belonging shaped by the transnational connections between the homeland and the diaspora Through close readings of plays and performances produced in the Dominican Republic and the United States in dialogue with theories of theater and performance migration theory and literary cultural and historical studies this book situates theater and performance in debates on Dominican history and culture and the impact of migration on the changing character of national identity from end of the twentieth century to the present By addressing local audiences of island based and diasporic Dominicans with stories of characters who are shaped by both places the theatrical performances analyzed in this book operate as a democratizing force on conceptions of Dominican identity and challenge assumptions about citizenship and national belonging Likewise the artists' bi-national perspectives and work methods challenge the paradigms that have traditionally framed Latin American theater studies

Entangled Terrains and Identities in Cuba Asa McKercher, Catherine Krull, 2019-10-10 Entangled Terrains and Identities in Cuba Memories of Guantánamo explores the challenges and conflicts of life in the transnational spaces between Cuba and the United States by examining the lived experiences of Alberto Jones a first generation black Cuban who worked at the U.S. naval base at Guantánamo Bay Asa McKercher and Catherine Krull take readers on a journey through Jones's life as he crossed the entangled political racial cultural and economic boundaries both in Cuba and living as a black Cuban in central Florida McKercher and Krull argue that Jones's story encapsulates the reality of recent Caribbean and Cuban experiences as they deconstruct the events of his life to reveal the broader cultural and social implications of identity boundaries and belonging throughout Caribbean and Cuban history
