Africa PROFESSOR LOUIS. BRENNER, 2024-12-17 This book is a richly detailed comparative analysis of endogenous Muslim and Christian religious thought and practice in sub Saharan Africa Organized thematically the book presents a conceptual and analytical framework for the study of religious traditions as complex and constantly evolving social phenomena The most salient theme in the book is how different religious traditions defined and provided for the personal and communal wellbeing of their adherents Other major themes explore how religious traditions have influenced one another how religious practitioners conceptualized and interacted with spiritual entities how religious knowledge and expertise were acquired and transmitted how rituals were organized and structured in order to achieve their aims and how rituals affected those who performed them Additional topics analysed include the personalization of relationships with spiritual entities the gendering of religious thought and practice how personal transformative rituals were conceptualized and enacted with reference to stages of the life cycle such as birth marriage and death and how suffering was seen as integral to the process of personal transformation Overall the book engages with issues that continue to animate the study of religious thought and practice in Africa and African studies more generally

Yor b sacred drums and the god sealed within As well as offering multidisciplinary scholarly insights from transatlantic researchers the volume includes compelling first hand accounts from drummer priests who were themselves history makers in Nigerian and Cuban diasporas in the United States Venezuela and Brazil This collaboration between diverse scholars and practitioners constitutes an innovative approach where differing registers of knowledge converge to portray the many faces and voices of a single god
