Abstracts In Academic Discourse Variation And Change Linguistic Insights:

Abstracts in Academic Discourse Marina Bondi, Rosa Lorés Sanz, 2014 Drawing on genre analysis and corpus linguistics the book brings together studies on a genre that is becoming one of the most important in present day research communication The chapters are organised into three sections focusing on language and genre variation across cultures and disciplines as well as on recent language and genre change Academic Discourse John Flowerdew, 2014-06-11 Academic Discourse presents a collection of specially commissioned articles on the theme of academic discourse Divided into sections covering the main approaches each begins with a state of the art overview of the approach and continues with exemplificatory empirical studies Genre analysis corpus linguistics contrastive rhetoric and ethnography are comprehensively covered through the analysis of various academic genres research articles PhD these textbooks argumentative essays and business cases Academic Discourse brings together state of the art analysis and theory in a single volume It also features an introduction which provides a survey and rationale for the material implications for pedagogy at the end of each chapter topical review articles with example studies a glossary The breadth of critical writing and from a wide geographical spread makes Academic Discourse a fresh and insightful addition to the field of discourse analysis

Metadiscursive Nouns Feng (Kevin) Jiang, 2022-06-23 Based on a 1 7 million word corpus of 160 research articles from both soft and hard knowledge fields this book sets out to explore how a particular type of noun namely the metadiscursive noun is rhetorically used to mediate writer reader interaction in disciplinary writing Analysts of academic discourse have come to regard hedges reporting verbs directives and so on as forming part of a wide repertoire of interactive features available to authors suggesting a variety of terms including evaluation stance appraisal and metadiscourse One aspect which has been less fully explored however is the rhetorical role nouns play in achieving writers persuasive goals This book fills the gap by proposing a particular type of nouns as metadiscursive nouns as in this supports our hypotheses that youth are more likely to co offend when neighbourhoods are less disadvantaged The author aims to find out how writers employ metadiscursive nouns to engage and interact with readers in academic prose raising theoretical and pedagogical implications and how they can be applied in the teaching of academic writing This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars working in the areas of English for academic purposes corpus studies academic writing and linguistics in general

Learning to Navigate Evaluative Meanings in English Academic Writing JIANPING XIE, 2024-11-04 Academic authors use various evaluative resources to express personal attitudes opinions emotions or stances to persuade readers to accept their epistemic claims However expressing evaluation appropriately and effectively in English academic writing poses a significant challenge for L2 novice academic writers This book is specifically designed to address this challenge for novice writers It first explicates the notion of authorial evaluation in academic writing and sorts out major approaches to evaluation in Applied English Linguistics in the past three decades foregrounding the advantages of the appraisal approach The book then presents an integrated analysis combining a move analysis based on Kwan's 2006 generic model of literature review with an appraisal analysis applying Martin and White's 2005 appraisal taxonomy on Chinese novice writers' evaluation in MA thesis literature reviews. General features and problematic issues of the novice writers' demonstration of evaluation in English academic writing are identified and discussed and a teaching model for explicit instruction on evaluation in English academic writing is proposed in the book with the aim to enhance novice writers' ability to express evaluation in academic writing. An enriched appraisal taxonomy is also proposed to promote the applicability of the appraisal framework in academic discourse.

Linguistics. Volume 2 Anke Lüdeling, Merja Kytö, 2009-03-26 This handbook provides an up-to-date survey of the field of corpus linguistics, a field whose methodology has revolutionized much of the empirical work done in most fields of linguistic study over the past decade. Corpus linguistics investigates human language by starting out from large collections of texts spoken, written or recorded. These language corpora, which are now regularly available in electronic form, are the basis for quantitative and qualitative research on almost any question of linguistic interest. Many techniques that are in use in corpus linguistics today are rooted in the tradition of the late 18th and 19th century when linguistics began to make use of mathematical and empirical methods. Modern corpus linguistics has used and developed these methods in close connection with computer science and computational linguistics. The handbook sketches the history of corpus linguistics, shows its potential, discusses its problems and describes various methods of collecting, annotating and searching corpora as well as processing corpus data. It also reports case studies that illustrate the wide range of linguistic research questions addressed in corpus linguistics. The over 60 articles included in the handbook are divided into five sections: 1. the origins and history of corpus linguistics and surveys of its relationship to central fields of linguistics; 2. corpus compilation; 3. corpus types; 4. preprocessing of corpora; 5. the use and exploitation of corpora. The final section gives an overview of the results of corpus studies obtained in phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, semantics, sociolinguistics, historical linguistics, stylometry, dialectology and discourse analysis. It also reports on recent advances made in human and machine translation, contrastive studies, computer-assisted language learning and automatic summarization. The contributors to the volume are internationally known experts in their respective fields. The handbook is intended for a wide audience ranging from teachers, university students and scholars to anyone interested in the use of computers in linguistic analyses and applications. Language Variation and Language Change Across the Lifespan Karen V. Beaman, Isabelle Buchstaller, 2021-03-30 This volume brings together research on panel studies with the aim of providing a coherent empirical and theoretical knowledge base for examining the impact of maturation and lifespan specific effects on linguistic malleability in the post adolescent speaker Building on the work of Wagner and Buchstaller 2018 the present collection offers a critical examination of the theoretical implications of panel research across a range of geographic regions and time periods The volume seeks to offer a way forward in the debates circling about the phenomenon of later life language change drawing on contributions from a variety of linguistic disciplines to examine critical topics such as the effect of linguistic architecture the roles of mobility and identity construction and the impact of frequency effects Taken together this edited collection both informs and pushes forward key questions on the nature of lifespan change making this key reading for students and researchers in cognitive linguistics historical linguistics dialectology and variationist sociolinguistics Index to Theses with Abstracts Accepted for Higher Degrees by the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland and the Council for National Academic Awards ,2007 Abstracts of the Annual Meeting American Anthropological Association,2008
