Biology Life As We Know It

Dan Green, Simon Basher

Biology Life As We Know It:

Basher Science: Biology Dan Green, Simon Basher, 2010-12-07 Uses cartoon style characters and everyday situations to explain the basic elements of biology Life as We Know It Joseph Seckbach, 2006-09-21 Life As we Know It LAKI covers several aspects of Life ranging from the prebiotic level origin of life evolution of prokaryotes to eukaryotes and finally to various affairs of human beings Although it is hard to define Life one can however characterize it and describe its features Topics treated are categories of bacteria algae and fungi conscience philosophy theology aesthetics appearance of sport and life destiny life after clinical death and thoughts of the world to come Olam Haba The various chapters have been written so that they are accessible to all from the avid lay reader to the specialist and make available multidisciplinary sources of information about Life The information presented here on the various phenomena of Life were all written by highly qualified authors including scientists public leaders a professional athlete and three Nobel Laureates Life As We Know It Michael Berube, 1998-03-31 When Jamie B rub was born with Down syndrome in 1991 he was immediately subject to the medical procedures insurance guidelines policies and representations that surround every child our society designates as disabled In this wrenching yet ultimately inspiring book Jamie s father literary scholar Michael B rub describes not only the challenges of raising his son but the challenge of seeing him as a person rather than as a medical genetic or social problem Biology Dan Green, Simon Basher, 2008-09-16 Provides an overview of biological topics discussing cells and the building blocks of life describing the characteristics of living creatures from viruses to mammals and examining body parts and plants Space Data Management Agostino Cortesi, 2024-03-13 The book presents latest results pertaining to challenges faced by researchers in space data management There are large number of highly important applications that currently rely upon data from satellites and space missions ranging from weather prediction to monitoring of environmental pollution climate change marine traffic agriculture and urban planning etc The quality and quantity of space data poses new and specific challenges to the scientific community covering the entire life cycle of space data management and with a need for an interdisciplinary approach The chapters written by experts discusses impacts of these challenges and report activities that can stimulate new research Making Sense of Life Evelyn Fox Keller, 2002-05-31 What do biologists want What kind of explanation do biologists aim How will we know when we have made sense of life Explanations in the biological sciences are provisional and partial judged by criteria as heterogenous as their subject matter This text accounts for this diversity Inscribing Science Timothy Lenoir, 1998 Metaphors of inscription and writing figure prominently in all levels of discourse in and about science The description of nature as a book written in the language of mathematics has been a common trope since at least the time of Galileo a metaphor supplemented in our own day by the characterization of DNA sequences as the code for the book of life decipherable in terms of protein semantic units An important recent direction in the fields of science and literature studies is to consider such descriptions as more than metaphoric as revelatory of the processes of signification in science more generally Nearly everywhere we look the semiotic turn is upon us Recent science and technology studies have been characterized by a rich diversity of research directions manifesting several trends apparently counter to one another On the one hand stands the rich tradition of detailed microstudies of experiments instruments and scientific practice on the other hand are grouped studies grander in scope aimed at examining science within the framework of cultural production This volume of sixteen essays seeks common ground among these different approaches by juxtaposing work from historically focused science and literature studies with work inspired by poststructuralist philosophy and semiotics The contributors are Gillian Beer Lisa Bloom Robert Brain Lorraine Daston Richard M Doyle David Gugerli Hans Ulrich Gumbrecht Friedrich Kittler Timothy Lenoir Alex Pang Philip Prodger Hans J rg Rheinberger Robin Rider Brian Rotman Simon Schaffer and Bernhard Siegert

Weird Life: The Search for Life That Is Very, Very Different from Our Own David Toomey, 2013-02-26 A fascinating introduction to the weirdest life forms known to science and the maverick scientists who search for them On Beyond Living Richard Doyle, 1997 What do biologists study when they study life today Drawing on tools from rhetoric and poststructuralist theory the author argues that the ascent of molecular biology with its emphasis on molecules such as DNA rather than organisms was enabled by crucial rhetorical softwares Metaphors such as the genetic code made possible a transformation of the very concept of life a transformation that often casts organisms as information systems With careful readings of key texts from the history of molecular biology such as those of Erwin Schr dinger George Gamow Jacques Monod and Fran ois Jacob the author maps out the complex relations between the practices of rhetoric and the technoscientific triumphs they accompanied triumphs that bolstered a postvital biology that increasingly elides and questions the boundary between organisms and machines There have been many popular books and a few academic ones on the Human Genome Initiatives On Beyond Living is a genealogy of these initiatives a map of how we have come to equate human beings with information Melding contemporary theory with scientific discourse it is certain to provoke discussion and controversy in the fields of cultural studies theory and science with its penetrating inquiries into the relations between rhetoric and technoscience

Science, Religion, and the Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence David Wilkinson, 2013-08-02 If the discovery of life elsewhere in the universe is just around the corner what would be the consequences for religion Would it represent another major conflict between science and religion even leading to the death of faith Some would suggest that the discovery of any suggestion of extraterrestrial life would have a greater impact than even the Copernican and Darwinian revolutions It is now over 50 years since the first modern scientific papers were published on the search for extraterrestrial intelligence SETI Yet the religious implications of this search and possible discovery have never been systematically addressed in the scientific or theological arena SETI is now entering its most important era of scientific development New observation techniques are leading to the discovery of extra solar planets daily and the Kepler mission has already collected over 1000 planetary candidates This deluge of data is transforming the scientific and popular view of the existence of extraterrestrial intelligence Earth like planets outside of our solar system can now be identified and searched for signs of life Now is a crucial time to assess the scientific and theological questions behind this search This book sets out the scientific arguments undergirding SETI with particular attention to the uncertainties in arguments and the strength of the data already assembled It assesses not only the discovery of planets but other areas such as the Fermi paradox the origin and evolution of intelligent life and current SETI strategies In all of this it reflects on how these questions are shaped by history and pop culture and their relationship with religion especially Christian theology It is argued that theologians need to take seriously SETI and to examine some central doctrines such as creation incarnation revelation and salvation in the light of the possibility of extraterrestrial life
