Salvage from the Sea Gerald Forsberg,2025-05-01 Salvage from the Sea 1977 offers a fascinating insight into the interesting but complex and highly specialised profession of marine salvage and its associated disciplines All aspects of the wide and varied field of marine salvage are covered and discussed in detail Submersible Technology: Adapting to Change Society for Underwater Technology (SUT),2012-12-06 To maintain quality in research output providing the necessary new knowledge for our developing industries must be of prime importance to our community This is an extremely difficult task when viewed in the context of the rapid rate of change being experienced within our national industrial scene Collaborative research programmes designed to constantly monitor and improve the quality of output through regular reporting and assessment of achieved goals against defined targets can help the growth of our industry and benefit the rest of society The government has established initiatives to encourage collaboration and the transfer of technology between the research and development domains There are many signs that industry and the universities are making a concerted effort to adapt their working practices and relationships to meet the rapidly changing industrial environment There are still many shortfalls and areas for improvement Some of the extremes of government educational policy can and will seriously impair the evolution of and benefits gained from the collaboration initiatives These must be resisted by academe and industry alike if we are to make new advances against foreign competition Joint R and D projects do work and can be made to work To achieve the steady growth of healthy and fruitful relationships they must however be given a good environment and a nourishing diet REFERENCES 1 Alvey Programme Annual Report s Alvey Directorate Millbank Tower Millbank London SW1P 4QU 2 Annual Review o Government Funded R D 1985 From the Cabinet Office Her Majesty s Stationery Office
